ASSHOLE OF THE MONTH

God is a funny guy. He's given us so much to be grateful for: boobs, internal-combustion engines, flush toilets, a limitless universe full of wonder and possibility. But then, just to be perverse, the Almighty goes around filling the world with pus-oozing sphincters, such as Paul Jennings Hill, HUSTLER Magazine's godawful Asshole of the Month for December 1994.

Not only does God, practical joker that He is, create a shit-package such as Paul Hill, but He'll speak directly to that turd in a voice the rest of us cannot hear, instructing the plop of animated feces to take a course of action beyond the pale of accepted human behavior. Under the influence of divine inspiration, a dung ball such as Paul Hill might fuck his own mother, rape a sevenyear-old child, betray his country, slaughter every man, woman and child in his family, kick a dog. Or maybe the enlightened piece of crap will shoot and kill an on-the-skids, pill-pusher doctor whose practice has deteriorated to where the M.D. is whacking out assembly-line abortions at 50 bucks a slop.

Dr. John Bayard Britton, 69 years old, was no hero. During an eventful, unacclaimed medical career, Britton was disciplined for improper prescription of painkillers and for screwing a junior hospital staffer. Neither of these activities warrants a shotgun blast to the face.

Jim Barrett, a 74-year-old retired Air Force lieutenant colonel and member of the Unitarian Church, was even less deserving of a brainpan full of buckshot, which was Barrett's reward for volunteering to escort Dr. Britton to the Ladies Center, a Pensacola, Florida, health clinic where abortions are performed. Every Friday, Dr. Britton traveled 300 miles to perform those abortions.

The Ladies Center was just one stop on Dr. Britton's route, an abortion circuit he had inherited from Dr. David Gunn, a fetus-scraper who was shot to death at a different Pensacola, Florida, women's clinic in March 1993.

Paul J. Hill, 40 years old, is an excommunicated, former minister for the Presbyterian Church in America. Hill's most distinguishing physical characteristic is an insane, mirthless smile. This disturbingly smug and psychotic grin, common among morally deluded fanatics, is never far from Hill's face. The eerie, inhuman smirk beams out from all of Hill's recent photographs, especially the shot of Hill in handcuffs, simpering satanically, on his way to being booked for the murders of Dr. Britton and Jim Barrett.

Britton and Barrett were snuffed out as they sat in a pickup truck in the Ladies Center parking lot. The two men knew Paul Hill well.

Hill had attained a sort of fringe freak celebrity by presenting himself as director of Defensive Action, an antiabortion group he founded after the killing of Dr. David Gunn. Although the membership of Defensive Action seems to be confined to Paul Hill alone, the organization did give Hill the required credentials to appear on such highminded TV shows as Donahue, Nightline and Sonya Live. The fervent right-to-lifer used his media exposure to champion the cause of killing abortion doctors as justifiable homicide.

When not on the airwaves defending murder as "a fulfillment of the commandment of Christ," Hill was lurking around the Pensacola region's abortion clinics. Known for openly advocating violence as a divinely sanctioned means of stopping abortions, always busy Hill prepared and circulated a petition that described the murder of Dr. Gunn as "justifiable." Often wafting a sign that read: "Abortionists Are Murderers. Murderers Should Be Executed," Hill would crane his neck toward a clinic's window and screech: "Mommy, don't kill me!"

"I thought I would...let you know how the Lord has been leading me," began a recent Hill fundraising letter. The Lord subsequently led Hill, the Mississippi Right to Life's Friend of the Year back in 1986, to a crossroads where he is almost certain to be convicted of employing a 12-gauge to end the lives of two human beings.

Antiabortion zealots condemned the crimes Hill is charged with as "murder, a sin." Pro-choice activists decry Hill's actions as terrorism.

Murderer or terrorist, Paul Hill has injected fear and lunacy into a charged, heated controversy that needs intelligent, compassionate discourse, not Assholes.

Farts in the Wind

Phil Collins: Phil Collins's music, a pretentious sonic definition of limp, lame and vapid, is familiar to anyone who's ever tried to fuck clinically depressed broads. The only things about Collins more receding than his singing voice are his lips, his hairline and his testicular fortitude. Apparently fantasizing a reunion with an old school flame, Collins dumped his wife and family via fax. The old flame, predictably, claims to want nothing to do with Collins, which makes him the world's first flaming, but flameless,

Benjamin Chavis: Executive director for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Benjamin Chavis had an assistant,

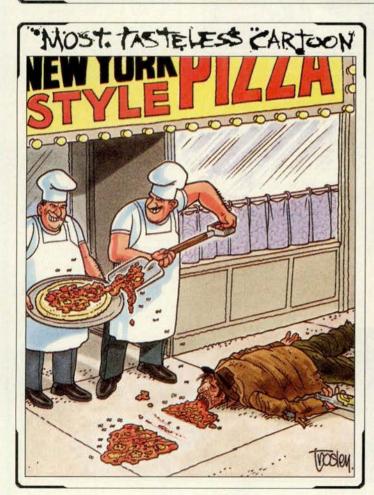

Mary Stansel, for one month. Stansel left. Her severance agreement included two lump sums totaling 50 grand, $5,400 a month for six months and an additional quarter million if Chavis didn't find her an $80,000 job. These payments reportedly came from NAACP funds, not Chavis himself. Need we hear more? Color Chavis Asshole.

HUSTLER DECEMBER 5

How a Bill Becomes Withdrawn

The Clintons need cash! Having endured the legal fees necessary to battle the Whitewater real-estate scandal and repair Bill's image, damaged by sexual allegations from Gennifer Flowers and Paula Jones, the First Family is at the brink of bankruptcy. What will they do? HUSTLER, the nation's foremost head of state, has a solution. We've created a souvenir T-shirt the President can sell to all the girls he's loved before. Sales volume from past paramours alone should put Bill and Hill back on their financial feet. These pullovers can be worn frontway or backward, as the sexual circumstances dictateand the more Americans the President screws, the more shirts he's eligible to sell!

Porn From the Past

Before Mean Streets and Bad Lieutenant, brooding actor Harvey Keitel starred in a little-known film called Who's That Knocking on My Balls? Actually, that's a lie. In truth, this Keitel lookalike submits to a painful blue-ball precursor to 'nad boxes and cock rings. Thanks and $150 go to T. Cretton for sending in this shot. Squeeze a little cash out of Larry Flynt by sending your classic carnal photos to HUSTLER's Porn From the Past, 9171 Wilshire Boulevard, Suite 300, Beverly Hills, CA 90210. Include a self-addressed, stamped envelope if you want the material returned.

The Eiffel Power

Give France some credit. The country that supposedly invented weird love keeps tweaking its greatest creation all the time. Dèmonia, a French-twisted digest, establishes the land of de Sade once again as a leading exporter of bizarre sexual behavior. From piercings to wax drippings to graphic scenes of domination and submission, the photos in this fascinating guide speak a lurid language fetish fans will love.

Write to:

What does Supreme Court Justice Clarence Thomas do when he's refusing to write opinions on our nation's most controversial issues? He's acting as Justice of the Peace for fat-assed and flatulent radio host Rush Limbaugh and his soonto-be-squashed new wife, Marta Fitzgerald. One of our nation's highest love-natural that Thomas has turned his Virginia home into a matrimonial palace. Want to shred old marriage licenses? No problem. The and law-makers, it's only Love Judge will even provide a honeymoon suite complete with mood-enhancing videos and refreshing cans of Coca-Cola. Let Thomas be your guide for an affair to remember.

A HUSTLER Contest

The best things in life are free, states one old proverb. There's no such thing as a free blowjob, goes another.

A blowjob, for sure, is one of the best things in life. But at what price? Maybe you think lip-to-loin action culled from a date, girl-friend or wife comes "free." Think again. Even if a mook bypasses the expensive ritual of dinner and drinks, the mind-numbing female chatter he must endure is certainly as costly, in its own way, as simply shelling out for a professional prick-licking.

So is a blowjob better than money? Money can buy a blowjob. True, money can't buy everything, but all things good in this life seem to depend upon a solid financial foundation.

HUSTLER challenges its readers to name a commodity that's worth more than cold, hard cash. The obvious prospects have already been rejected.

YOUR HEALTH

"There ain't no happiness without your health," boast rich, old hard-ons with their support teams of highly paid medical specialists. Unfortunately, there ain't no lasting health without a radical transplant of the patient's cash into a trained professional's pocket. Don't get sick if you don't get rich first.

YOUR TRUE LOVE

Love is a many-splendored thing: Picking up the check is the first of its splendors; alimony is the last. In between lie a lifetime's worth of wallet-sapping expenditures. How splendid.

YOUR FAMILY

Blood is thicker than water, but it will dissolve in even a mild cash flow. The family won't be happy if Daddy's trying to support brats and spouse on a poverty-level income. Family values? Watch what happens when kin squabble over a substantial inheritance.

YOUR FRIENDS

No great friendship has ever been built upon the following inquiry: "Say, buddy, could you lend me a couple of bucks until payday?" Many have ended that way.

YOUR THINGS

Nothing lasts forever. Luxury cars collapse into junkheap Yugos; gourmet meals putrefy just like canned cheese-products. Owning a home entails property taxes and endless repairs, and even the most glamorous trophy wife withers into a hag. Money, if it's handled right, accrues more of itself.

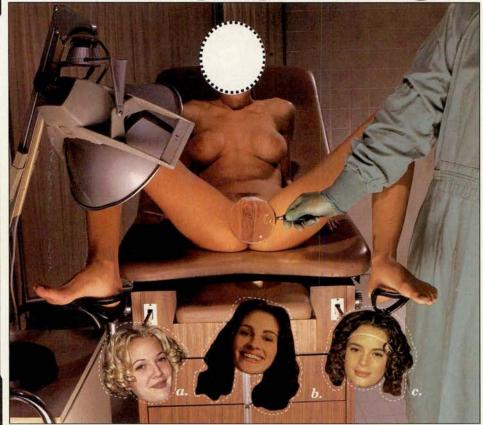

YOUR HUSTLER MAGAZINE

Great reading has its price, and HUSTLER's is more than reasonable. Hardy fools might consider purloining a copy of America's premier publication. Let this be a warning: Larry Flynt personally tracks down every HUSTLER shoplifter and prosecutes them to the fullest extent of his law. It's not worth it. Trust us.

Send suggestions to What's Better Than Money? c/o HUSTLER Magazine, 9171 Wilshire Boulevard, Suite 300, Beverly Hills, CA 90210. Shell out 29¢ for a stamp first.

The winning entry will be printed in an upcoming edition of HUSTLER and paid an amount of money. But, quite frankly, there probably won't be a winning entry. After all, what is better than money?

Celebrity Gynecologist for a Day

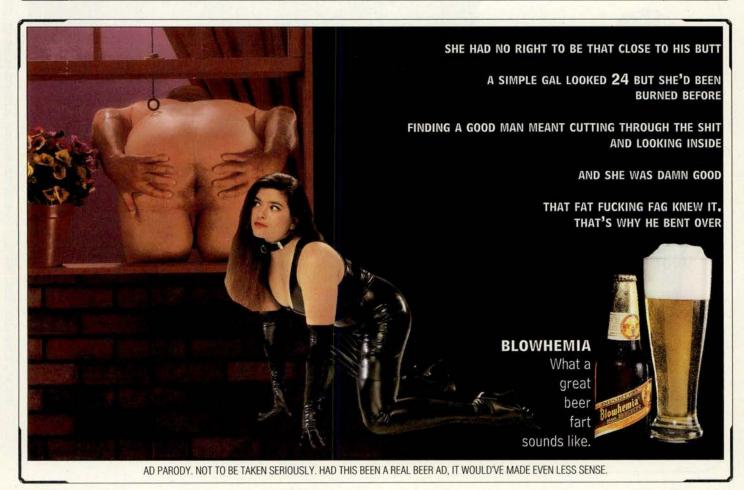

Want to be up to the elbows in today's tightest stars? There are two ways to step up to the stirrups: Complete seven years of medical school plus another four years in gynecological residency, or cut out the heads of these sexy gals and place them atop the patient's body. It's fun, it's educational, and it's another way HUSTLER makes dreams come true.

> Which of these known gynecological patients is your favorite stirrup fantasy?

HUSTLER's Goodwill Game

The History

Kim Jong Il is an ear-scratching enigma. Heir apparent to the North Korean presidency, Jong II has been known to amuse himself by ordering subordinates to shave their heads and strip naked. In addition, the eldest son of deceased longtime leader Kim Il Sung reportedly stages frequent orgies, watches public executions with "frenzied joy" and is an ardent fan of Daffy Duck cartoons. Judging by his gaping gut, young Kim sits up and begs often for a certain Korean culinary delicacy. Is Jong Il's bark worse than his bite? The free world may never know what evil lurks within North Korea's nuclear reactors, but HUSTLER can guess what's in this worthy Oriental gentleman's wok; thus, we've created a contest to get readers more involved with North Korean politics and practices.

How Many Doggies Are in That Kimbo?

The Rules

- Simply look at this photo and the artist's rendering of Kim Jong II and estimate how many dogs the Pyongyang potentate has digested in his lifetime.
- Estimate consumption of canines only. Ingested snakes, squirrels, field mice and body vermin should not be included in the final tally.
- Full-grown dogs and newborn puppies each count as one (1) dog only.
- Pregnant bitches count as one (1) dog.
- Shih Tzus count as one half (1/2) dog, since that breed is considered finger food in most Asian cultures.

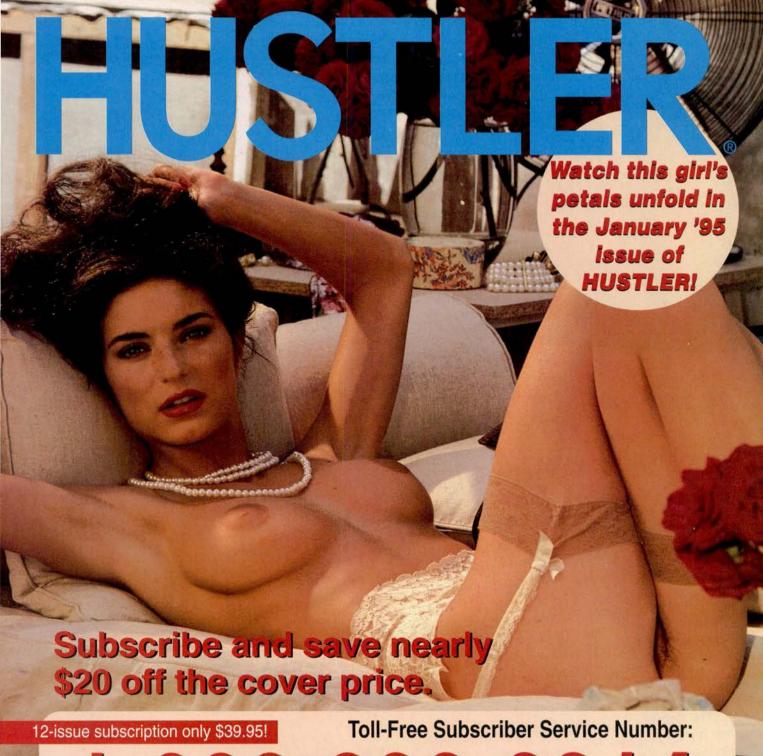

Some Hints

- Cooked cabbage, another North Korean savory, resembles a Welsh corgi when digested.
- Kim Jong Il is 52 years old.
- He stands five feet, six inches tall, but weighs a whopping 189 pounds.
- His expanded belly capacity is 350 pounds solid or 0.25 liquid tons.

Fill out this coupon and send it, along with your name and a return address, to North Korean Leader Dog-Eater Contest, 9171 Wilshire Boulevard, Suite 300, Beverly Hills, CA 90210. The winning reader receives a one-day supply of liver-and-cheese-flavored Alpo. Good luck.

I think Kim Jong II has eaten ____ dogs in his lifetime.

(Tiebreaker) Jong Il's favorite-flavored breed is

Responding to reports labeling their marriage a double-bearded publicity stunt, '80s movie star Richard Gere and MTV mascot Cindy Crawford paid thousands of dollars to print an open letter to their public on May 6, 1994, in the London Times. HUSTLER dutifully responds to their plea that the media be responsible, truthful and kind with...

A Personal Statement Richard Gere and Cindy Crawford

Fuck you. You buy up valuable space meant for real news to announce that you are not faggots, do not plan to get a divorce and will not stop your lucrative participation in some of the most insipid entertainment ever foisted upon a gullible and chronically disappointed public. No one gives a shit about you.

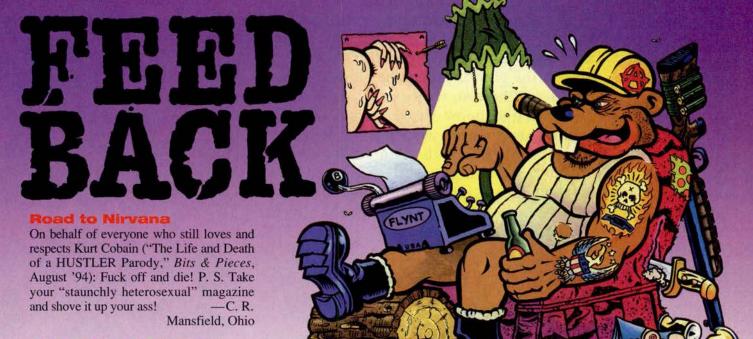

You promise your "friends and fans" that you will continue to support "difficult" (your quotes, not ours) causes such as AIDS and leukemia research, human rights and ecology. How brave! If you self-aggrandizing assholes have such balls, why not back a truly difficult, potentially career-threatening cause that really matters, such as the Save the Gerbils Foundation?

You demand your right to privacy when you've devoted your lives to getting your big fat faces on as many magazine covers and in as many shitty movies as possible instead of, say, working as missionaries in Tibet.

HUSTLER agrees with you egomaniacs on one point: Thoughts and words are powerful; so fuck you again.

Sincerely,

Back to the Source

Have you ever considered that it was probably women who were behind the shooting that put HUSTLER Editor and Publisher Larry Flynt in a wheelchair? Think about it. The fact that alone among men's magazines HUSTLER has presented women in a truthful and realistic way has caused much hate to come from women. HUSTLER shows menstrual blood in photos and cartoons, which is unknown in other men's magazines. Menstruation is the principle problem and fear among women. To put it into the open makes for a large loss of "business" for women. That can make them dangerous!

Remember: Women try to hide their defecation, urination and hairiness! Women over 30 years of age are smiling at you with false teeth! Women change their bodily appearance by cosmetic surgery! Hell hath no fury like a woman revealed!

White House Outhouse

I've been a HUSTLER subscriber for a long time, but this is the first time I've felt compelled to write Feedback. In HUSTLER's October 1994 issue, Paula Jones is named Asshole of the Month ("Asshole of the Month," Bits & Pieces, October '94) and rightfully so. However, the article contains a serious inaccuracy that needs to be addressed. The ninth paragraph of the article makes the following statement about President William Jefferson Clinton: "Savvy and slick Willie wouldn't switch to wiping his ass left-handed without consulting opinion polls."

Everyone knows that Bill "Willie" Clinton is a southpaw. Therefore, he already wipes his ass with his left hand. In the future, if you're going to talk about "Willie," try to get politically correct! —J. H. Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania

HUSTLER respectfully suggests, J. H., that President Clinton has yet to use his left hand to wipe his ass. Liberal Democrats kiss his bung clean!

He Noticed!

The pictures published in HUSTLER Magazine are very graphic, immoral and abnormal to look at. People do not want to see stuff like that. It's disgraceful to show stuff like that in magazines. That stuff is damaging for anyone to look at. Adults too. It makes the mind mentally disturbed to see that stuff! I'm a concerned citizen. I care about what goes on in the world. It's up to you. —M. A.

Draghixa: Fur on the Fly

Oakland, California

Funny Stuff

I am an avid reader of the most excellent publication, HUSTLER Magazine. I am currently reading HUSTLER's September 1994 issue. The parody of Ike Turner has me laughing every time I read it ("Ike Turner's Comedy Jam," Bits & Pieces, September '94). Among the cartoonists, Mr. George Trosley has the best artwork and funniest captions I've ever read. Thanks for the laughs.

It's All Coincidental

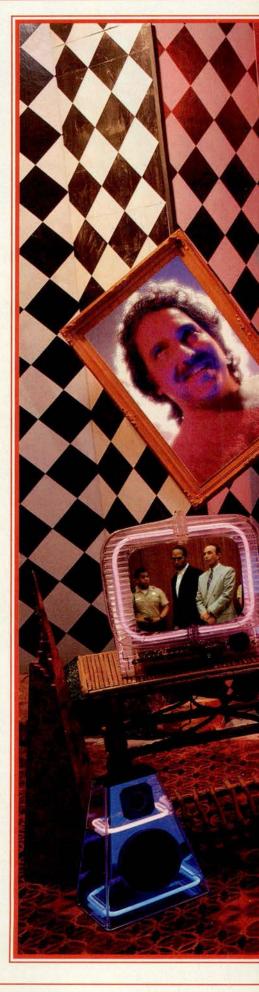

I give HUSTLER's writing staff less than "one-quarter erect." I'm damn sick and tired of the racial overtones in HUSTLER Magazine. I'm a brown American, not an African-American. The amount of African in black people in America is so minute.

There are times in every HUSTLER staff member's life—usually between selecting the Beaver Hunt girls and choosing the Asshole of the Month—when he or she ponders the meaning of existence. Where do we go when we die? And what awaits us when we get there? Heaven could certainly not eclipse the earthly pleasure of working for America's Magazine, but hell, on the other hand, holds an unknown and alarming set of possibilities. Flaming red leisure suits? John Lennon unplugged? John Candy movie marathons! We closed our eyes and opened our minds to the worst of all possible worlds, imagining the horrors that await...

that if we went to Africa, they wouldn't even recognize us!

I work in a record store, and we carry every sort of magazine imaginable. I first noticed HUSTLER's tasteless shit when it printed the article about Elijah Muhammad (Armageddon in the House: Rap Music Heralds the New Master Race, February '94). As for your September 1994 issue, it's more of the same redneck bullshit. I mean, page 9 about Ike ("Ike Turner's Comedy Jam," Bits & Pieces, September '94); page 35 about Sean Michaels ("Adventures of Buck Naked," Erotic Entertainment, September '94) come on, what kind of shit is the "naked Negro" reference? Nobody's used that word since the damn Civil War, Page 51-why did you use a black woman for that Sex Play illustration ("Through the Nose: the Allure of Women Who Stink," Sex Play, September '94)? You belittle our women, but you would stick your white meat in them in a heartbeat. And the most tasteless, stereotypical, redneck, prejudiced, ignorant of all the pictures is page 69: the Dwaine Tinsely cartoon of a Ku Klux Klan member being inspired to smile by a photographer holding up a toy of a lynched black man. You people are fucked-up to be printing shit like that. But I'll tell you this: HUSTLER's articles have inspired me to fuck every white slut I see. Every time I squirt my spunk in their pretty, little, blue eyes, I'll think of HUSTLER Magazine. Thanks for all the -Addicted to Blond Pussy inspiration. Las Vegas, Nevada

On the Pot

Regarding HUSTLER's article, Prescription High, on the legalization of marijuana for medical reasons (Prescription High: The Case for Medical Marijuana, September '94): I think Cannabis sativa should be legalized for several reasons. If these fucked-up, greedy politicians acquired AIDS, I bet they would legalize marijuana in a minute if they thought it would help them regain a healthy appetite! I know Bill Clinton is stroking Willy right now over HUSTLER's September Honey, Draghixa (Draghixa: Fur on the Fly, September '94). I have one message for him: Legalize hemp for world peace. -Burning a Fat One Gainesville, Florida

In Memorium

I am writing regarding the recent, tragic suicide of adult-film actress, Savannah. It really hurt me emotionally that she took her own life.

As a loyal HUSTLER reader, I would like HUSTLER to print something editorial in nature regarding Savannah. Adult-film stars who blow themselves away do not leave this world easy. I broke down when I heard about it. I could not believe it. I still can't. Savannah left a lasting impression, I care.

It's a damn shame that some female X-rated-movie stars suffer from "low self-esteem." To me, all female adult-movie stars are like models—just as much as supermodels like Cindy Crawford. Women are not just "meat" to be fucked. That beautiful person that once graced HUSTLER Magazine is gone. Savannah was a unique person. I wish I had met her. I think it is high time to cherish that pampered commodity, beautiful women. Savannah is a great loss. I'll never, ever forget her.

Sweet Nothings

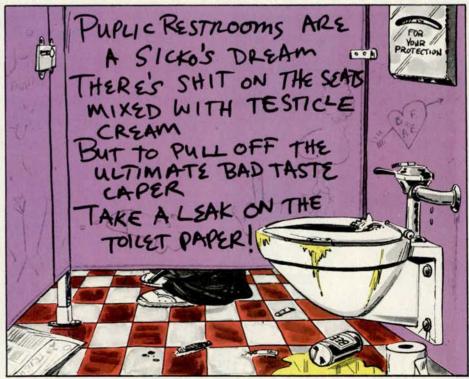

Last year I bought my first issue of HUSTLER, and I haven't stopped buying it since. HUSTLER Magazine is the best—not only the best adult magazine, but the best place to read news that other magazines are too spineless to cover, like Ministry's Al Jourgensen's review of men's magazines (An Unbiased Consumer's Guide to Men's Magazines, March '94) and Rogues' Galleria (Rogues' Galleria: Street Crime Sets Up Shop in America's Malls, June '94). Asshole of the Month is a laugh, like the whining Tonya Harding ("Asshole of the Month," Bits & Pieces, July '94). And Erotic Entertainment's video reviews are excellent. I only wish we readers could order the videos when you rate them. Maybe give a number to call and order. If you would, I promise to order!

Well, enough of the bullshit! You all know why I buy HUSTLER Magazinethe wicked layouts of those dick-hardening women! And I must say that June 1994 was the best so far, and to top it off, that was the month of my birthday! Usually, only one layout really gets my attention. But this time-bam! Daron (Daron: Lip Smackin', June '94)...ouch! She got me going in the right direction, and right after that, Gabrielle (Gabrielle: Access to Excess, June '94)! Fire in the hull! My heart almost stopped beating. I feel sorry for anyone who died when he saw those two. I guess I shouldn't, since I know he -P. K. died happy!

I've been a faithful and ardent follower of HUSTLER Magazine for as long as I can remember. Even as a young man, before I ever knew what a pussy was good for, I can remember looking through HUSTLER Magazine and popping a big woody! As I read HUSTLER's 20th-Anniversary issue and saw the Historic HUSTLER feature (Historic HUSTLER: A Broad Overview of 1974 to 1994, July '94), I recognized the first issue I ever saw: the one with the "knotted lady" in it (October '79).

Anyway, the real reason I'm writing is to show my deep appreciation for HUSTLER Magazine's latest publication. I have never in all the years of reading HUSTLER seen a more beautiful model than September's Bo (Bo: Thumb Stuck, September '94). Please show more of Bo! She has the eyes and, yes, eyelashes that can stop a 300-pound man in his tracks and turn him into a pile of blubbering mush! In closing, I must say, "Bravo, Bo!"—R. B. C. Richmond, Virginia

I felt compelled to write to commend you on a couple of pictorials featuring Italian babes. Bianca (Bianca: Sheet Music, June '94) and Cadence (Cadence: Roamin' Holiday, August '94) are truly in a class of their own. It is rare to see such beautiful foreign women in any skin mag, and it is much appreciated. Many a night I've yanked my love rod to Bianca, and now it will be pulled to the shots of Cadence or even both. Keep up the good work. We Canadians love HUSTLER Magazine!

—G. W. Edmonton, Alberta, Canada

I think HUSTLER Magazine is great, but I do have one suggestion: Instead of all the silicone-titted women HUSTLER always has gracing its pages, why not try gracing your pages with some Kate Moss types once in a while? After all, they are all woman, even the ones with no artificial additives such as silicone. Outside of that, I think HUSTLER's the greatest.

Lessons in Love?

I am writing to you from Bosnia, where I'm serving my second tour as a peace-keeper, and I'm writing on behalf of all the single guys in my platoon. In response to "Real Woman" in Feedback ("Real Woman," Feedback, July '94), the women who wrote this letter, who signed themselves "sisters in love," obviously need some good Canadian loving. We Canadian grunts stake our reputations on not only being good soldiers but better lovers. When you're away from pussy as often as we are, you learn the art of "romance."

Lots of licking, biting and caressing are very important to women. Too many men want to stick it in, blow their load and say thanks. You poor "sisters" are wasting your time with limp-dicked, out-of-shape college boys who probably didn't even know what pussy was before college. Want some real men? Come to Canada.

and get "romanced" by us grunts. Every place we've been in the world, there are lots of extremely happy women! I can only say I hope my platoon has the honor of being in Grand Rapids, Michigan, to help the "sisters in love"!

BUTTMAN'S BRITISH BIG

Blimey! Who can travel to a dingy European island renowned for its twisted-toothed, slag-assed females and successfully track down as supple and salacious an array of strumpets as any continent has to offer? John "Buttman" Stagliano, that's who. Fresh from the semi-triumphant Buttman's Inferno, Stagliano and his lavender-thrill mob of pokin' blokes beat a path to merry old England for some right proper rousting and jousting. The record of this jizz-soaked sojourn, Buttman's British Big Tit Adventure, is two hours and 20 minutes of fully erect fuck frolic with seven eye-popping, jaw-dropping mega-mammaried British Empire beauties boasting nary a droplet of silicone among their bewitching abundance of breastmeat. Dark-fleshed, giant-chested hotel chambermaid Nita proffers the audience a taste of huge things ahead, exposing her heavy-squirting, black milk sacks in the first scene. Shortly thereafter, she's joined by perennial Buttman boff-mate Rocco Siffreddi, and together they tackle Anjelica. This creamy, curvy wet-dream-vision direct from Ireland sports two bountiful pots o' gold in her bra cups and the magic of 1,000 leprechauns in her hot-flowing lap. Next, Buttman bumps into Steve York and records his reaming of the statuesque Sarah Lee-Anne Hayley, who's as long on voluptuous sex appeal as she is on names; and veteran vagina-plunger Joey Silvera joins the hijinks by hard-humping the super-sexy Shannon White and Lisa Ward in a brilliantly erotic pillow-boob pileup. The tape-closing orgy taps the talents of its trio of male stars in tandem with Janey Lamb and Stephanie Hart-Rogers, both of whom dazzle in the dairy department. "Buttman" Stagliano is the best filmmaking friend a hand-humper could have; his British Big Tit Adventure proves him to be the salt o' the earth. -Selwyn Harris

Man Who Loved Women: Byron bangs away at Jacme.

Use It: Ashley atop Morgan...and how!

THE MAN WHO LOVED WOMEN

Three-Quarters Erect. Directed by Thomas Stone; starting Tara Monroe, Lana Sands, Janet Jacme, Ariel Day, Wednesday, Peter North, Tom Byron and Sean Michaels. Videocassette: VCA.

Ultra-suave brother Sean Michaels is The Man Who Loved Women, and the women really seem to love his big, black, truncheon-like sausage, which Alabama dick-crankers may want to take into account before viewing this tape. Aside from monumental penile dimension, Michaels eats pussy and twirls his tongue into poop ring as though he were a terrier snouting a tasty rat out of a tight hole. Sean flexes his length in four of Loved's fucks, satisfying a total of five female libidos. Supporting pole Tom Byron dicks Janet Jacme's face in a moving convertible Ford Mustang, then makes a brief disappearance into her mocha turd box and pumps his prick as her slapping lips attempt to catch his dropping slops. Peter North launches the wad lavage of the century; the initial salvo nearly knocks his date's teeth in, blasting through her sinuses and ruining her face. A girl could get her eye poked out, which is what there is to like about Loved Women. —Christian Shapiro

USE IT OR LOSE IT

One-Quarter Erect. Directed by Jim Enright; starring Vixxxen, Teri Diver, Kaitlyn Ashley, Lynn LeMay, Peter North, Jonathan Morgan and Randy West. Videocassette: Caballero.

Pointy, bland Vixxxen pulls her red car to a stop beside a trash can and tosses in the tip of a chopped, fake penis. "I warned you," she says, "use it or lose it." A more apt exclamation would have been: "I'm warning you about Use It or Lose It." The story of Vixxxen's frustration over Peter North's comalike fixation with the TV set, Use It hurries through two acts of regulation porn lovemaking (North jizz-wets Vixxxen's belly after what is basically a long, two-position poke; Kaitlyn Ashley catches Jonathan Morgan's cock crud on the bottom of her chin), then settles in for concept carnality. Teri Diver's pussy tries to snap North out of his funk, but he remains cathode-catatonic—a state most home viewers will also maintain. Diver conjoins the mature mammaries of Lynn LeMay with North in the middle, sitting in a stupor rivaled only by the torpor of the payper-view customer. Vixxxen fucks old-comer Randy West directly in North's sight, but he's still mesmerized by his TV. The home viewer wonders what is on the weather channel. Lose Use It.

BUTT BANGED BICYCLE BABES

Three-Quarters Erect. Directed by Biff Malibu; starring Misty Rain, Draghixa, Barbara Doll, Francesca Le, Marolin, Yvonne, Kimberly Chambers, Jon Dough, John Stagliano, Sean Michaels, Gerry Pike, Eric, Marc

Wallice, Guy DeSilva, Chad Thomas and Mark Davis. Videocassette: Anabolic.

Balling outdoorsmen and the chicks whose shitters open to bone them beneath the open-air skies are the subjects of Butt Banged Bicycle Babes, where everybody wheels up for an alfresco fuck. A more intriguing gimmick is Bicycle's trick of bringing two babes together in semenrelay teams. In a test of gag reflexes and coordination, girl one catches a discharge of cum with her articulate lips, then spits the frothy load into girl two's receptive oral cavity, Instant hard-on for John Stagliano, who comes three times in Banged's last scene: Stagliano fucks a chick and comes all over her asshole, rump and thighs. A big-boobed blonde felches the wad off assfucked's crevice, buns and legs; Stag drops another load. The fucked chick is butt-nailed again by some other guy, Mark Davis, and the resultant cum-gargling leads Stag to bust another nut. Will this triple-spurting miracle be repeated by the home audience, or will hundreds simply break their wrists in the attempt?

Bicycle Babes: Stag's party with pooper-pumping strumpets.

Half Erect. Directed by Bud Lee; starring Nikki Dial, Kaitlyn Ashley, Dyanna Lauren, Tony Tedeschi, Brad Armstrong, Alex Sanders and Nick East. Videocassette: Vivid Film.

The inclusion of flesh-savory Nikki Dial, despite her condom clause, is reason enough to watch any porn video. Hardcore, with its premise of Dial employing a look-alike to fill in for herself during public appearances, promises two helpings of Nikki for the price of one, doubling the Dial effect and raising the theoretical potential that Hardcore will be twice as rewarding as the basic Dial vehicle. Unfortunately, contrary to prognosticating equations, only one of Dial's three Hardcore fucks is free from cockfrustrating flaws, and the two other chicks are not Nikki Dial. Butt-boning Kaitlyn

Ashley is certainly preferable to pulling the pud into a handful of chopped liver, and Dyanna Lauren deserves ardent and sincere admirers, but they are window dressing. In the first fuck, Dial never sheds her body-stocking, and her tits languish under wraps. The finale shows more of Tony Tedeschi's ass and dangling scrotum than it does Dial's swaying satchels. In between is a picnic-blanket poke with Dial splayed out and rocking, full body exposed, and elevated with tits and butt imploringly uplifted as she boffs on top, which is reason enough to go Hardcore.

SAYONARA, SAVANNAH

Shannon Michelle Wilsey, a/k/a Savannah (1971-1994)

In a sad replay of a too-often-employed exit from the porn biz, Shannon Michelle Wilsey, better known to adultvideo fans as Savannah, took her own life on July 11, 1994. Like suicidal sexmovie performers Shauna Grant and Megan Leigh before her, Wilsey died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound. She was 23. As Savannah, the chillingly beautiful blonde quickly rose to superstar status and achieved off-screen notoriety by being linked with Guns 'N Roses guitarist Slash, rap group House of Pain and loathsome cretin Pauly Shore. Though Savannah was often the target of critical barbs, her popularity proved she was obviously the stuff of which the public's pud-pounding dreams were made. Good night, sad Savannah. HUSTLER extends condolences to Ms. Wilsey's family and friends. —Selwyn Harris

NIGHT OF THE STARS: THE HORS D'OEUVRES WERE FRESH.

TIANNA TAYLOR AND TA-TA-TOUCHING FRIEND.

O HOLEY NIGHT

Porn's finest gathered at Los Angeles's Universal Sheraton to dance, drink and congratulate themselves for raising dough on behalf of the Free Speech Coalition. The real attraction of Night of the Stars—the official name of this gash-filled gathering—was the opportunity to ogle newfangled porn poon such as Heather Lee, Nicole Lace and the ever-cute Kaitlyn Ashley. Veronica Hart and Nina Hartley represented the old guard. Porsche Lynn stepped front and center by taking to the dance floor and frugging with Al Cowlings (best known these days as O. J. Simpson's would-be getaway driver), though the most potent proceedings took place in a back room, where the tit-heavy talent could take it all off nasty-style for smiling photographers.

Lifetime achievement awards were doled out to XXX-stud Jamie Gillis, legendary lady Kelly Nichols, the aforementioned Ms. Hart and director F. J. Lincoln. By evening's end, freedom of expression still existed in these United States, and the consensus was that porn folk sure do know how to throw a party. Just ask A. C. —Mike Albuquerque

STRAP ON SALLY 2

Half Erect. Directed by Jim Gunn; starring Ariana, Chantilly Lace, Jay Milo, Christy Baye, Shade, Sinammon, Alice Harvey, Diana Perker and Maria Moore. Videocassette: Pleasure Productions.

Some guys really like to jerk off, and they really like to jerk off to porn videos, and they really want to see a snatch getting stuffed in those porn videos, but they can't stand to see a dick in their porn videos. Maybe these penis-phobes are selfish bastards whose resentful envy boils over at the sight of a male other than themselves having fun with groovy porn-holes, or maybe the guy's a teeny-peeny, or he's afraid of being a faggot just waiting to happen; it doesn't matter, because the combination of miracle polymers and silicone has made possible Strap On Sally 2, wherein broads undergo penetrant gang-bangs, multi-prong sucks, DPs, ass-fucking, luscious BJs and every other variation of vaginal-invasive prong-work in an all strap-on, nonstop plunger marathon with nary a real rod in sight. Strap On Sally 2's only drawback is no cum-shot, but any worthy spunker can supply his own at home.

Strap On Sally 2: Dildo dykes dive deep.

Half Erect. Directed by Frank Marino; starring Debi Diamond, Kaitlyn Ashley, Bionca, Beatrice Valle, Teri Diver, Heather St. Claire, T. T. Boy, Marc Wallice, Peter North, Jonathan Morgan and Jason Ashley, Videocassette: Vidco.

From its title to its drab lighting, to its cast of standard slots and prods, to its workaday butt rammings, The Analizer is a no-frills spill tape. Analizer has no plot, but it contains the required amount of semen plop, much of it delivered with the scrotal sack perched above the face of a supine broad whose mouth waits gaping below for the dick-drop delivery. Peter North's pumpmate is particularly uninterested, seeming to endure rather than participate as his wang belabors her portals. Marc Wallice skewers the off-plugged pooper of Bionca while a hefty dildo distends her vagina, and workable pro Teri Diver spreads her legs in a wide V for the probing Jonathan Morgan, but only the fervent coupling of Debi Diamond and T. T. Boy achieves any degree of credible sexual abandon. Diamond fucks like a mean man-even her blowjobs exude carnal hostility—but much of The Analizer is a dozer.

Analizer: Diamond's dung-exit opens wide for T. T.'s bone

EENA IS NAST

Half Erect. Directed by Mitchell Spinelli; starring Leena, Kaitlyn Ashley, Bianca Trump, Jasper, Misty Rain, Chayse Manhattan, Kylie Ireland, Sean Michaels, Jake Williams, Alex Sanders, Derek Taylor and Jay Ashley, Videocassette: Odyssey Group,

Popular porn starlet Leena truly is nasty, in every sense of the term. In some fuck flicks, Leena flares nasty in a highly fuckable, down-and-dirty manner, though too often she reverts to the hagay, skagay, hard-faced definition of the word. In Leena Is Nasty, the titular trollop displays both modes of her nasty self. On the upside, she sexily engages cunnilingus champ Kaitlyn Ashley and apelike Jake Williams in a penis-pleasing threeway, then later bounces around with Sean Michaels's big. black bone up her butt. In between, she appears defeated and dour-looking, thus casting a pall on the otherwise okay sex-proceedings: Bianca Trump takes it in the mouth and rump from a pair of polemen; smile-pussed Jasper gets plowed by Jay Ashley; and, in the best scene, Kaitlyn Ashley, Misty Rain and Kylie Ireland share nipple-sucking, labe-slapping lesbian goodness in a backyard pool. Leena Is Nasty: such a statement certainly doesn't qualify as news, nor does the tape offer anything new.

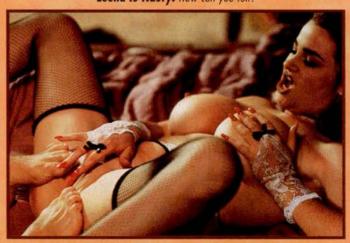

Leena Is Nasty: How can you tell?

IOOTERMANI

Half Erect. Directed by Greg Dark; starring Crystal Wilder, Danyel Cheeks, Tianna Taylor, Lynn LeMay, Leanna Foxx, Natasha, Marc Wallice, Terry Thomas, Ron Jeremy, Jonathan Morgan, Jack Armstrong and Jon Dough. Videocassette: VCA.

Demented porn-visionary Grea Dark returns with his first non-sequel feature in some time via Hootermania, and for perhaps the first time ever, the crozed cooze director disappoints. The problem lies not with Dark's craftsmanship, but with the silicone-soured, inflatable-raftlike chest appendages and stable-clearing faces of his chosen starlets. Hootermania's plot concerns Jon Dough's quest for the perfect set of tits; he couldn't possibly be among worse company than the assembled female cast. Dicks and fingers fill asses, painful looking tit-fucks are the order of the day, cocks get sucked, muffs munched, Ron Jeremy runs around in a pig snout, a weirdo orgy winds things up and all for naught: The plastic-surgerybungled horror-boobs are distractingly, uniformly hideous (only trash-twat Tianna Taylor can shift the focus from her noxious nay-nays for a few sexy seconds). In an adventure titled Hootermania, grotesque torso-bumpers figure as a handicap that just can't be overlooked. -S. H.

B HI ID TH BLAC DOOR

One-Quarter Erect. Directed by Randy DeTroit; starring a cast of five or six melanin mans and mams. Videocassette: Midnight Special.

"All black, all nasty, all anal," the cast of Behind the Black Door Volume 4 are never credited on the box or on the tape—not that the names would mean anything to anyone outside of parole officers and welfare workers. It is possible to tell these people apart, even for those hampered by lily-white sensibilities, because one of them looks like Oprah Winfrey, and none of the others do. Still, the scenes all run together, not one distinguishable from another, in part because whoever put this video together was more amateurish than the performers. A chubba blubba mama sucks dick like it's a corn dog, and she just wants the mustard off of it. Shouldn't this be on the Nature Channel? A pimpy-looking fellow reclines as a darkly billowing gal plops her puss on his prick. He'd get off his ass and spear it into her, except that would seem too much like work, and no one involved with Behind the Black Door Volume 4 was willing to do any of that.

—C. S.

DIAL A FOR ANAL

One-Quarter Erect. Directed by Frank Marino; starring Christina Angel, Debi Diamond, Beatrice Valle, Bionca, T. T. Boy, Peter North and Marc Wallice. Videocassette: Caballero.

When pinch-faced Christina Angel stands out as the most appetizing eye-candy in a porn tape's assortment of female bonbons—as is the case with Dial A for Anal—the letter most appropriate for the situation is U for ugly. L for lame would be an accurate calling card as well, since Anal is as rote and uninspiring as any video could possibly be, despite pricks being stuffed into poopers end-to-end. T. T. Boy butt-bones harsh-boobed Beatrice Valle; Debi Diamond makes a lot of annoying noises during an unerotic Marc Wallice bathroom fuck; Peter North and Angel provide the only possible whack-worthy sex scene; a couch tussle culminates with the familiar North cum geyser; Valle and Bionca rewrite lesbianism to make it nauseating; and Diamond and Angel do sex stuff astride bouncing Boy. How about B for Boring? C for Crappy? D for Dumb?...—S. H.

FRESH LOAD

I recently lost my job as a copier service technician for a major corporation. Needless to say, without a steady paycheck, I quickly fell behind on my rent. Molly, the owner of the apartment building where I live, gave me an extension, but she was pissed. Luckily, Molly's stepdaughter, Lori, likes me. Whenever I've needed to sneak in or out of the building, she's helped me avoid her mom.

After a month or so of doing nothing but sitting around and getting drunk, I'd finally dirtied my last stitch of clean clothes. I hauled my pile of dirty laundry down to the washing machines in the basement and just missed being spotted by Molly. Clad only in my least filthy pair of boxers, I stuck nearly all the clothes I owned in the wash.

Moments after shutting the lids, I heard the door at the top of the stairs creak open. Darting into the shadows, I spied Molly in the doorway. "Hello? Anybody down here?" she inquired loudly. I held my breath. Not only did I owe her rent, but I felt silly in my underwear. A woman in her 40s, Molly boasts voluptuous curves and always smells of rose perfume. Her luxurious, naturally blond curls have not a single strand of gray. She descended the steps, her long legs slicing through her flapping bathrobe.

Pushing myself farther back into the shadows, I wondered what the fuck my landlady was doing naked under a bathrobe at two in the afternoon. She tossed a dust mop aside, hoisted herself up onto one of my vibrating washing machines and, parting her robe, pressed her youthful looking hands against her muff.

Scarcely able to believe my eyes, I witnessed my landlady grinding her pussy against the bucking appliance. Lifting one weighty breast toward her mouth, she circled her tongue around

My prick pushed out of my shorts like a frustrated spectator forcing his way to the front of the stage. Soundlessly, I stroked myself. Molly inserted two, then three fingers into her molten, purple pussy. Pumping toward orgasm, I was groaning in hyperventilating ecstacy when, all of a sudden, the washer cut out; the load was finished. The sudden quiet betrayed my helpless grunting.

"Who the fuck is there?" said Molly.

My wilted hard-on weeping one large globule of pre-cum. I stammered my name and exposed myself to her gaze.

"Looks like we both got caught," said Molly. Her no-bullshit tone softened my scalding embarrassment. But the landlady couldn't resist talking business. "You owe me, Molly bargained, gently parting the slick lips of her labia with manicured fingers.

Heart racing, I lowered my nose into the thicket of her freshly showered bush. Emboldened by Molly's fragrant, justhewn essence, I caressed the petals of her labia with my tongue, lapping up her hot, salty sheen. My fingertips slipped gently between the cheeks of her ass and lightly diddled the pulsing crater of her ringpiece. Sliding one pussy-moistened middle finger gently into her ass. I stirred her backside sauce, whisking her slowly to the boiling point.

Shuddering, Molly hoisted her legs into the air and pulled my mouth against her puckered asshole. Swiping my tongue around the spicy sphincter, I watched as she cupped her hanging wabs, occasionally licking her distended nipples.

Suddenly, my balls felt warm and wet. Glancing between my thighs, I recognized the shiny black hair and green eyes of Molly's stepdaughter, Lori, poised beneath my horizontal prick. Wrapping her fingers firmly around my pud, Lori daubed my ticklish balls with her hot, rapid tongue before tasting my cock's mushroom-cap and jamming the whole length of my pole down her throat. Squeezing my cum sack, she tentatively pricked my defenseless rectum with a sharp little fingernail.

Carmen, my sailor-loving señorita, rubbed her thick lips up and down my shaft, leaving a spitty swipe of magenta. Her grinning mouth was full of tube steak.

erotic sensation, I fell backward on the cool concrete floor. Young Lori squatted on my face and ground my mug into her silky cleft. Then she slowly pulled off her T-shirt, revealing a perfect pair of tiny tits with long, pointed, dark brown nipples, rock-hard to the touch.

Descending from the washer, Lori's stepmom lowered her blistering pussy down the length of my shaft, reaching behind her to gently squeeze my dangling scrotum. Aside from my tongue, I couldn't move a muscle. I felt like Gulliver in Lilliput, pinioned by pussy.

Molly ordered her stepdaughter to get on all fours, doggy-style. She then gave my pecker a dripping slurp. After parting the cheeks of her stepdaughter's ass and moistening it with Lori's own beaver milk, Molly steadily guided my hard-on into the expectant, 19-year-old bunghole. My ass-enveloped prick waited, motionless, for what seemed like an eternity.

Finally, Lori undulated her rear; she was ready for stroking. Molly watched intently as I slowly reamed Lori's tender ass. I alternated gentle movements with furious, painful jabs. Lori's cries became more and more frantic as she begged me to give it to her faster. When her moans threatened to alert the tenants above us, I pulled out, turned Lori around and wanked my shit-smeared prong. Molly maneuvered her face into position where it was sure to catch the hot spew of a massive cum bath.

Kneeling in my apartment basement, straddling a 19-year-old girl who'd just had my cock in her asshole, pumping furiously on my tool and aiming my spurting semen at my landlady's mug, I marveled at my unpredictable fate. As my jizz sprayed Molly's face and dripped from her tongue and chin down onto her titties, I felt ready to pay a few months' rent in advance. If I'd known unemployment would lead to opportunities like this, I would have ditched my job long ago.

lay siege to the pussies of San Diego, California. As we raced townward, the duty officer yelled after us, "You shitbirds know exactly which places in town are off limits—and so does the Shore Patrol. Don't fuck with them, and they won't fuck with you!"

Our collective response? "Eat shit!"

An hour later, my buddies and me were tearing it up at the number one bar on the SP's shitlist, where beers cost a buck each to men in uniform (this long after Desert Storm, servicemen usually pay the same fuckin' price for brews as any civilian). This dive featured more pussy than you could shake a 12-inch prick at, including hookers and what you might call "camp followers."

I had me one of the latter: a darkmaned, melon-titted Mexican hourglass. She didn't ask for any green; so I figured she was doing me for the uniform. Drunk and raring for action, I thought, To hell with a room—I'll just fuck her in the crapper gent's head with my pants around my ankles and my fat schlong swabbing the ruby painted lips of my sailor-loving señorita, Carmen, I tasted the longawaited southern kiss of shoreside hospitality. Carmen rubbed her thick lips up and down my shaft, leaving a spitty swipe of magenta. Her grinning mouth full of tube steak, Carmen pinned me against the shit-stained toilet like a butterfly on cardboard. Finding her dress too tight to loosen, I ripped it open along the seam and made a beeline for her melons. Hell, I was drunk, but Carmen was drunker. "¿Oué pasa?" she cried. "Pagaría," I replied, attempting to tell her I'd pay as I rolled her nipples between my fingers and thumbs. She panted and gagged on my blue-veiner. Pulling it out of her slurpy mouth, I rubbed the dripping steel rod against her cool cheeks and chin.

Straddling a piss-stained shitter in the

Threatening to blow like a geyser, I pulled Carmen to her feet. Tearing the remaining clothes from her taut, whipthin body, I reached between her honey thighs and parted the lips of her extrahairy snatch. Juicing her slit nice and slick with gobs of saliva, I stuck a fat thumb inside her pussy and used my ring finger to strum and flick her clit.

Directing her to press her palms against the graffiti-covered door, I lowered my face between the sweaty cheeks of her ass as if I was cracking open some fat, airport paperback to look for the dirty parts. Just as I was giving a few preliminary opening licks to her winking buttbud, a familiar, bone-wilting yell rose up from the barroom. Fifty sailors in unison were crying, "Fucking Shore Patrol!" There followed the furious, chaotic sound of 100 people trying to simultaneously pass through a door designed for two at a time.

Acting on the iron law of naval life that says, "The stupidest, most braindead, moronic, dim-witted recruits will always gravitate to the ranks of the SP," I yanked Carmen up to stand with me on the slippery rim of the shitter to make it appear that the place was empty to whoever might look for feet under the stall. I left the stall door open an inch just to fool 'em some more.

Waiting for the dicks to move along to the next off-limits joint, I directed Carmen to fuck my greasy dong with her hand, anticipating the moment when I'd slam it right up her tunnel.

Silence descended around us as the sweep came to an end. Drunkenly, I set Carmen back on the floor, motioned her to spread and plunged my burning poker into her sopping cunt. Gushing, she shattered the stillness with a scream to wake the dead. Right away, heavy bootsteps approached the head.

Continuing to plunge my boner in and out of Carmen's furry hole, I figured I might as well be hung for a sheep as a lamb. The cubicle door opened slowly. Over Carmen's shoulder stood the patrolling SP officer who had come to bust me. But to my surprise, instead of the usual lunkhead Nazi, a way foxy bitch in uniform looked me right in the eye as I continued to give Carmen my pound of kielbasa, eight to the bar.

She was fucking beautiful, and all I could think of was just how much I wanted her to bounce me off the walls of the brig. She reached one hand in front of her and grabbed my balls, yelling over her shoulder, "I got it taken care of, Sarge."

Holding my palpitating nuts, she led me out of the shitter and out of Carmen's twat. As much as I knew I was the one who was screwed, something about this SP bitch had my cock set like concrete. Was it the nightstick? The cuffs? The piece? No—it was the soft, insistent tugging of her eager hand, which had moved from my balls to vanking my prick.

Flushed with humiliation and jealousy, Carmen stood by as the female SP officer spanked my seized monkey. As sure as I was going to the stockade, I was stopping by heaven first! She pulled the bell end of my pole, whisking it around in her palm as if gauging its size. Hungrily, Carmen's eyes followed each sweep. The frustrated Mex popped half her hand inside her own neglected twat.

I slipped my hose in and out of Shore Patrol's pump-action palm all the way to the balls. In the end, though, it was Carmen who finished me off. Crawling on her knees, she pushed the SP's hand away and wanked my peen to the pumping point. As I sprayed thick bolts of stringy jism all over Carmen's brown titties, she licked the white spunk from her red, hard nipples and smiled happily.

That was the beginning and the end of my shore leave. But at least I got a great story to tell!

A PUBLIC-SERVICE MESSAGE FROM HUSTLER MAGAZINE

PORN TAPES MAKE GREAT LAYS

THE MOUNTING SUCCESS OF HARD-CORE-VIDEO SEX THERAPY

by Don Vaughan

Sex had been great for newly married Marge and Bill, but the excitement ebbed over the years. The time came when Bill would rather watch TV than bang, while Marge got more satisfaction out of doing crossword puzzles than sucking cock.

Hoping to bring back the deep, physical passion that first drew them together, Bill and Marge visited a certified sex therapist. The therapist made a startling suggestion: Go to the video store, rent a couple of hard-core porn movies and watch them together.

With the help of a friendly clerk, the hamstrung humpers selected three X-rated tapes. After dinner that evening, they popped one into the VCR and warily climbed into bed.

Ten minutes later, as deep-throat dynamo Teri Weigel smoked a donkey-rigged dude's middle leg, Bill's own member attained a firmness unseen since his honeymoon days. Holding Marge close, Bill whispered, "We haven't done that in a while...."

Marge smiled seductively, her freshly awakened pudenda moist with desire. "I'll do you if you do me," she said, disappearing under the covers. Bill reached for the video box, looking for other titles in the series. Their professionally prescribed therapy was definitely starting out

Good news for troubled couples.

Growing numbers of certified sex therapists are turning to hard-core video erotica to help cure a wide variety of coitus-related complaints, and professional opinion indicates visual pornography has substantial therapeutic benefit.

"In my estimation, approximately 40% of all sex therapists today use adult films successfully as adjunct therapy," states Dr. Judith Seifer, president of the American Association of Sex Educators, Counselors and Therapists [AASECT]. According to Seifer, a therapist in private practice in Lewisberg, West Virginia, who frequently recommends adult movies to her patients, use of hard-core pornography as part of professional therapy is increasing. "It's definitely a growing trend. The only reason it hasn't been more popular over the past 15 or 20 years is that the only films available to most therapists were educational films from the '70s, which, on the whole, were just not sexy."

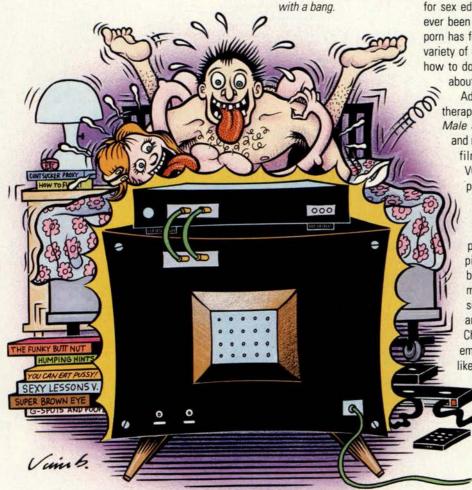

Therapists may only now be discovering the healthful benefits of adult movies, but the concept of porn as educator is old hat, according to Seifer.

"Commercial porn has been America's sex educator for the past 25 years," Seifer asserts. "It's presumptuous for sex educators and therapists to think that we have ever been able to match the audience that commercial porn has found. People who watch pornography learn a variety of coital positions, as well as how to touch and how to do somebody—because that's what porn's all about."

Adds Oakland, California, psychologist and sex therapist Dr. Bernie Zilbergeld, author of The New Male Sexuality, "I think it's safe to say that more and more people in this country are watching adult films. When I was growing up—long before VCRs—they were called blue movies and were primarily viewed at stag parties. Now they're available at most video stores for any adult who wants them."

Hard-core pornography, in or out of a therapeutic context, is not for everyone. Many therapists avoid adult videos as a counseling aid because of the "dirty movie" stigma. Others maintain a more medical approach, in which such forms of adjunct treatment have no place, and therapists offering sex counseling from a Christian or other religious perspective do not embrace erotic movies. Even among practitioners likely to accept the treatment, there are professional reservations.

"Porn is not a universal cure-all," cautions Seifer. "It is not a substitute for therapy for couples who are having profound sexual difficulties. Nor are [fuck videos] to be used with individuals who will tend to find them inherently distasteful (continued on page 55)

However, experts agree that, for couples who have some experience with explicit films, a trip to the video store can be the first step in making sex better.

"There is a very valid place for erotic videos in sex therapy, especially with couples from today's generation," declares Seifer. "This is the first generation in the history of mankind that has had television as a baby-sitter. This is a generation that has been raised on audiovisual stimulation. They are accustomed to learning by seeing and hearing. There are videos to help you repair your house. Why not use that method of education in the sexual arena too?"

Seifer has found that most patients are willing to give fuck flicks a try. She's also found that video sex can actually speed up therapy, noting, "Porn is especially effective for couples who have poorly developed communication skills. Many couples find it easier to have sex than to talk about it. But watching a video can open the door to conversation and discussion of topics that otherwise may never be addressed, such as sexual likes and dislikes. Adult videos can also help couples who have never developed the art of foreplay, or have become bored with sex after years of marriage, or who have very rudimentary levels of understanding about other sexual activities besides intercourse. Believe me, lots of couples don't have a clue about how to give or receive oral sex. Videos can show them. They're wonderful assists."

Dr. Zilbergeld recommends adult videos for similar reasons, and also sometimes uses them in the treatment of sexually dysfunctional men who don't have partners and aren't interested in surrogate therapy.

"Say a guy has a problem with coming too quickly, and he doesn't have a partner to work with," Zilbergeld postulates. "I may give him some masturbation exercises to do, necessitating fantasy. One thing I have found to be extremely helpful is to have him watch an erotic video while he's doing the homework assignment. Videos have a more dramatic effect on people, generally, than does looking at pictures in a magazine or reading something. The patient can do the masturbation exercises with a video, and that takes him closer to what it will be like with a real partner."

Former porn star Candida Royalle, who currently produces couples-oriented fuck films through her company, Femme Productions, paired up with New York-based sex therapist Patti O. Britton to review sex videos before an appreciative group of progressive therapists at a recent AASECT conference. The tapes under discussion ranged from commercial hard-core to soft-core aimed at women.

"The AASECT especially liked John Leslie's new movie, The Dog Walker," reports Royalle. "The sex was hot and nasty, and also included foreplay and tenderness. Rick Savage's amateur film The Streets of New York is also quite good that way."

Royalle believes explicit adult movies have myriad important uses.

"On the simplest level, hard-core porn's sort of a supercharger," she says. "It can be a quick turn-on. It's also great for sexual role-modeling, which is important if a couple has problems understanding the individual dynamics involved in sexual interaction. Most importantly, I think porn tapes open the door to better communication about what turns a person on. Men must understand that the women they're with have grown up in a society that has subtly taught that only bad girls have sex. When girls tell guys what we want, it's like admitting that we're bad. Videos can make discussion a little easier."

Royalle believes commercial porn offers greater benefits than the clinical sex-instruction tapes on the market because smut constitutes a more or less ordinary entertainment experience, rather than a form of treatment. "Some couples don't want to perceive themselves as being dysfunctional or needing help," she opines. "I think it's a lot better to turn to something entertaining, that has good sexual role-modeling, than to something that says, 'We know you have a problem; so we're going to try to help you.' There's a big psychological difference there."

Both Seifer and Dr. Zilbergeld add caveats when recommending adult material to their sexually troubled patients.

"I caution my patients not to compare themselves or their partners with the performers they see on commercial sex tapes," says Dr. Zilbergeld. "The reason the guy has such a big penis and the woman has such large breasts is that's what professional adult films require. I tell them they're watching the pornographic equivalent of a major athletic team."

While adult videos have proven effective in treating many common sexual problems, porn can also cause a few. Warns Dr. Anthony Pietropinto, author of Not Tonight Dear: How To Reawaken Your Sexual Desire, an excess of porn flicks can undermine a sex relationship by causing unfair comparisons or creating unrealistic expectations.

"People sit around watching the actors on the screen with perfect bodies having the hottest sex imaginable," says Dr. Pietropinto. "It can have the same effect as that on a kid who spends his time watching major-league baseball on TV instead of being out there on the sandlot actually playing."

Actually playing, of course, is the goal of all who seek sex counseling. Thanks to hard-core videos, those having trouble hitting one out of the ballpark are getting another turn at bat.

"I was going to ask you in, but there's no point now."

HUSTLER DECEMBER

Verducci holds a bottle of vitamins. "This stuff can make you pop a huge load," he assures, adding his constant refrain: "Do you wanna see my cock? It's really big."

Tonight's crowd at Los Angeles's Hard Rock Cafe is nothing special. Tourists, wannabe rock stars and one or two whatever-happened-to? celebrities crowd the bar, sucking down margaritas and noshing pricey chow. It's a nerve-grinding scene. Rock'n'roll memorabilia clutter the walls in mute testimony to many a pop career's premature ejaculation. These Hard Rock patrons are about to play host to a few superstar cunts.

East of here, in Los Angeles's Fairfax district, a comic-book store is offering an up-close-and-personal meeting with a flock of America's most favored porn goddesses. A block-long line of drooling fans pushes and grovels for custom-autographed glossies from girls who get paid to increase the squeeze of a screen-glued stroker's cum-encrusted jockey shorts.

A-list fuckstress Alicia Rio blows in late with Ashley "Remember Me?" Nicole, gay-porn refugee Joey Verducci and Steve Huston, a/k/a Rex Houston, star of Almost Home Alone. While her companions are ignored, Rio—the original "Pussy to Die For"—signs autographs hand over fist, numbing her orgasm-crazy brain center with the dizzying fumes of a friction-heated Sharpie.

After closing the comic-book emporium, the glad-handing porn pros invade the Hard Rock Cafe. Heads swivel to watch Nicole, Rio and scantily clad anal acrobat Nina Suave sashay inside, accompanied by Huston, Verducci and a trail of sweaty-palmed civilians. Verducci stops the room cold, announcing, "My cock is huge!" Seated, Rio and Suave hike their skirts above their twin ripe rumps, showing adjacent tables that neither girl's wearing panties.

A gaggle of Japanese tourists approaches the table, cameras popping. "Porno-chan, porno-chan," they bow. Suave, star of R. E. A. L. (Rear-Entry Anal Lesbians) and Anal Avenue, and Rio, whose voluminous credits include Gang Bang Fury and Full Throttle Girls, pose voluptuously. Nicole—a blue-movie-series star of the first rank, thanks to New Wave Hookers 2, Raunch 3 and Sex Asylum 4—fumes at not being recognized. Verducci and Huston flag the fans' attention by shouting passable Japanese: "You rikee take pic-chah?"

Halfway through her chicken salad, Rio mentions that she lives with these schmucks Verducci and Huston. Not only that, their other roommate is porn pseudo-intellectual Jonathan Morgan, a featured humper in The King of Rears.

As the drink flows into the late evening, Huston and Verducci invite Suave over to "the house." She's not interested. "It's really, really big," Verducci assures her. "I can show it to you under the table." Suave declines.

Huston, Verducci, Nicole and Rio head for the Hard Rock turnstiles and disappear into the night. Later, rumors fly that a jizz-soaked orgy took place that night at the residence Rio, Huston and Verducci share—although it's not entirely clear who fucked over whom.

Porn's liveliest living quarters are situated along a gated cul-de-sac somewhere in Southern California's San Fernando Valley. Like the neighboring houses, the place is a Tudor stucco job, and the renters appear to be quiet and well-mannered. The only thing the neighbors know is that three guys who favor cowboy personas—silver-tipped boots and geometric haircuts that give them the square-headed look of the Blockheads on Gumby—live there. Their roommate, a pretty Latina, drives a nice car and seems to keep later hours than all of them.

Behind the front door, though, it's another story. Alicia Rio, Steve Huston, Jonathan Morgan and Joey Verducci are living out a porn-inspired version of Three's Company.

Joey Verducci greets a visitor by saying, "I never travel anywhere without these." In one hand he holds a bottle of designer cologne, and in the other, a medicine bottle containing some type of vitamin. "This stuff can make you pop a huge load," he assures, adding his constant refrain: "Do you wanna see my cock? It's really big."

Alicia Rio enters, her hair wet from the shower, smelling of shampoo and creme rinse. She tosses a towel on the couch, Behind her shuffles Steve Huston.

"I only asked you to do one thing," Rio complains. Huston mutters, but she doesn't want to hear excuses. "All you had to do was take the dog to the vet and pick up some dog food."

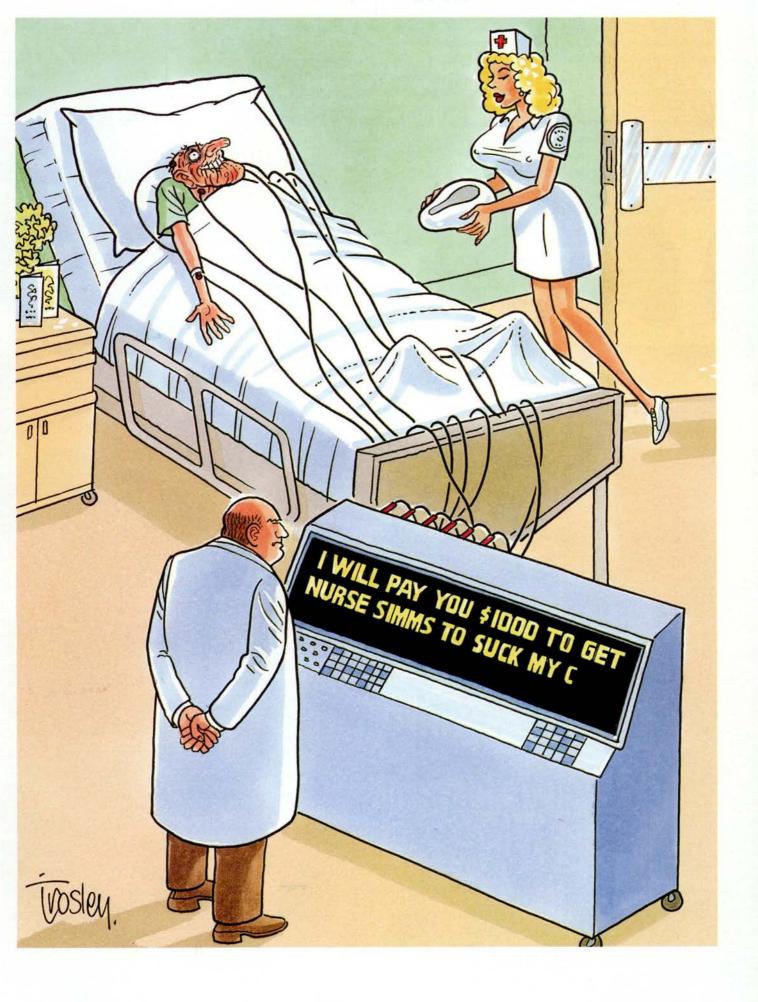

Rio confides: "It's always like this: I'll go out on tour, and there are things that need to be taken care of. These guys always say that they'll do them. But I come home, and nothing's done."

Huston points at Jonathan Morgan, who has just walked in. "Jonathan said he'd do it," charges Huston. "Besides, it's his dog."

"I went from law enforcement to porn," states Huston. "I'm sure my friends on the PD think, 'I wish I were fucking for a living instead of getting shot at for $40,000 a year."

"Why is it always me?" shrugs Morgan. "What was Joey doing the whole time?"

"These guys are so alike," estimates Rio, shaking her newly washed curls. Her sundress shows off a lip-smacking expanse of butter-soft flesh. Still-damp hair collects around her tan shoulders in fragrant curls.

"Look at them. They're like twins."

Verducci and Huston are dressed alike in similarly ripped Levi's, each with a metal belt buckle the size of a small dinner plate, blue-tinted sunglasses, a single earring and flannel shirt opened to the waist.

"Huston tries to copy me because this is how I get all the girls," protests Verducci.

"You get all the girls?" laughs Huston.

"You two do everything the same," asserts Rio. "You play the same video games, you watch the same movies...."

"But he can't do a Van Damme split," brags Verducci, who flops to the floor in some sort of martial arts pose, purportedly inspired by the Belgian actor.

Porn hyphenate Morgan, a performer and writer, rolls his eyes in a superior manner, forgetting for the moment that he took credit for writing the absolutely awful 'Ho, 'Ho, 'Ho, an X-market ripoff of the Ron Howard-directed movie Night Shift.

The odd quartet settles into an overstuffed couch to talk about how their incriminatory living arrangement came to pass and how they've managed not to murder each other.

Both Huston and Rio were once public servants.

"I went from law enforcement to adult films," states Huston. "I'm sure most of my friends on the PD must be thinking, 'I wish I could be fucking for a living instead of getting shot at for $40,000 a year.' More crap goes on at a police station than on a porn set."

"In high school, I was involved in cheerleading," relates Rio. "After that, I went to Cal State L.A. and got a degree in business. I was the Deputy City Treasurer for the city of San Gabriel here in Southern California for five years, but then I was cheated out of a promotion. I thought I'd better find another way of making a living. I figured, if I'm going to get screwed, I might as well be the one doing the screwing! When I ran across an ad in the L.A. Express seeking nude models, I thought, I'm not getting any younger; so now's my chance. After two years and 150 movies, here I am."

The third member of this commune, San Francisco native Verducci, claims to have appeared in countless erotic videos and is now embarking on a career as a "tag-team" male exotic dancer with Huston. Verducci's defining character trait is never failing to mention, "My dick is really big. Do you want to see it?" At the moment, nobody does. Verducci appears to be genuinely hurt.

Morgan rounds out the household. He describes his entrance into the world of X-rated entertainment as an extension of his college theater-arts studies. "I came to L.A. to try to make it as a straight actor," he recounts. "I landed a small part on a soap opera called Santa Barbara, and I did a few B-movies—976-EVIL, Teacher's Pet From Hell, Blonde Bimbos From Space 2—but I wasn't making any money. I called up Vivid Video, and about four months later, I did my first X-rated movie for Paul Norman, Bigger."

Through smut-business connections, Rio became acquainted with Morgan. "When Alicia first came into the business, we worked together 15 times in one month," Morgan explains. "A good friendship came out of that. And now we're roommates."

"What really happened," interrupts Rio, "is that I just picked up these guys off the street. We knew that Jonathan was a down-to-earth person. Like me and Steve, he had a regular 9-to-5 job, and we had common interests. And he didn't always go around saying, 'Isn't my dick big?"

Verducci pouts. "My dick is big," he protests. To no one in particular, he mutters, "Do you want to see it?"

"Jonathan's a great actor," flatters Rio, perhaps recalling Teacher's Pet From Hell.

"Eight out of every ten movies I've done, I've had the lead," swells Morgan.

"Last year I had eight nominations at the Adult Video News awards show," continues Morgan. "That was more than Ashlyn Gere or Rocco Siffredi. They were only up for seven."

Competitor Huston inquires, "How many did you win?"

Morgan, hurt, snaps back, "How many did you?"

"When you have a houseful of adult actors," states Huston, "there's always a lazy one, a macho one, the one that has to baby-sit and the complainer."

"I'm not macho," responds Verducci, who obviously thinks he is.

"You try to be," says Rio, casually stretching her arms along the couch back, raising her unfettered breasts. "Jonathan is the quiet one."

"Jonathan is the one who has all the women," Verducci amends.

Huston agrees. "You should have heard him upstairs last night. You would've thought they were filming a movie—'Ooh, ahh, do my ass deeper!'"

"The only reason I complain so much," says Rio, "is because I'm on the road dancing so much. These guys need to take care of certain things, and they don't do them. Especially Steve. He's the lazy one. For the past four days, I was in Kansas City. The only two things I wanted him to do was get food for the dog and take the dog to the vet for its shots. There's no dog food, and the dog hasn't had its shots." As if cued, out on the porch the dog yaps. Nobody pays it any mind.

Verducci pipes up: "I reminded the maid to clean up." Nobody is impressed.

"I'm not the lazy one," complains Huston. "Jonathan won't even wash his clothes, or pick up his underwear. The other night I went into his bedroom, and there was used Kleenex all over the floor. He was sitting on the bed watching a porn movie. There was all this wadded-up tissue. And he was trying to tell me he had a cold."

With all this bickering, one wonders why porn people would choose to associate with fellow workers in the field, let alone live with them. Rio points out specific advantages to their arrangement: "Jonathan writes scripts for different video companies; so now and then he adds in a girl-girl scene for me. For stuff like that, it helps that we live together."

"When you live with other people in the business," adds Morgan, "you have people who understand what your problems are. There are things that you can't discuss with someone outside the industry. For instance, I came home from working a shoot the other night, and I was pissed off because when it came time for the cum-shot, I didn't feel that a significant amount came out of me. I couldn't discuss something like that with anybody outside of the business. But Joey gave me some advice about vitamin supplements that could help me produce more cum."

Morgan brings up the gooey incident that took place following the L.A. comic-book store signing, relating his side of the story. "After the signing, Steve, Ashley, Alicia and Joev went to the Hard Rock Cafe," he recalls. "One thing led to another, and they came back here. I was asleep because I had to be on a porn set at eight o'clock the next morning. At 4 a.m., I heard a noise. I went downstairs to find the four of them fucking like maniacs. I was trying to sleep: so I slammed the door. The next thing I knew, they'd brought the orgy into my room. The girl I was working with the following day kept saying, 'Are you okay? You look awfully tired.' I still rocked, but it was tough."

"We all had a lot of fun that night,"

Rio giggles.

"Jonathan must have come four times in about an hour," marvels Verducci.

"That's because I have the meatiest, juiciest pussy in the business," says the girl of that hour.

The men bow low in tribute to Rio's mouth-watering labial smorgasbord.

"Alicia Rio has the only pussy that, not only can you fuck, but you can dive into like an all-meat buffet," declares Morgan.

"My pussy's like a deli department," laughs Rio. "Two pieces of bread and a condom, and you're set!"

Says Morgan, "Alicia used my bathroom when I was on vacation. I came back and found out that she had fucked my bathtub faucet. Now, every time I touch it I go, 'Ooh, Alicia!'"

Rio explodes with laughter. "It's true!" she confirms. "He's got this really long faucet that curves. I bent over doggy-style, backed up into it and fucked it!"

"Steve has been using my bathroom to bathe the dog," complains Verducci, jumping on the bandwagon. "And when he's finished, the dog always urinates in the tub. I go in to take a shower, and it's disgusting."

Once again, the conversation dissolves into petty disagreements.

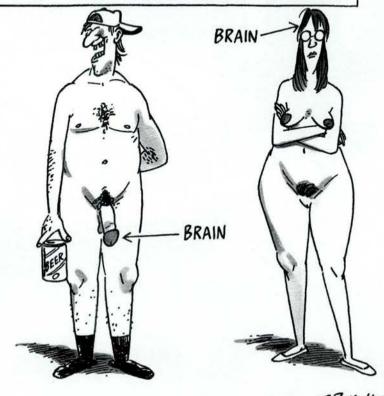

"The trash is supposed to go out Monday," says Rio. "I ask these guys to do it, and it never gets done. And now we've got an ant problem because Jonathan leaves his food everywhere."

"Me?" objects Morgan vehemently. "Huston makes about eight quarts of oatmeal and then leaves it lying around until it's green."

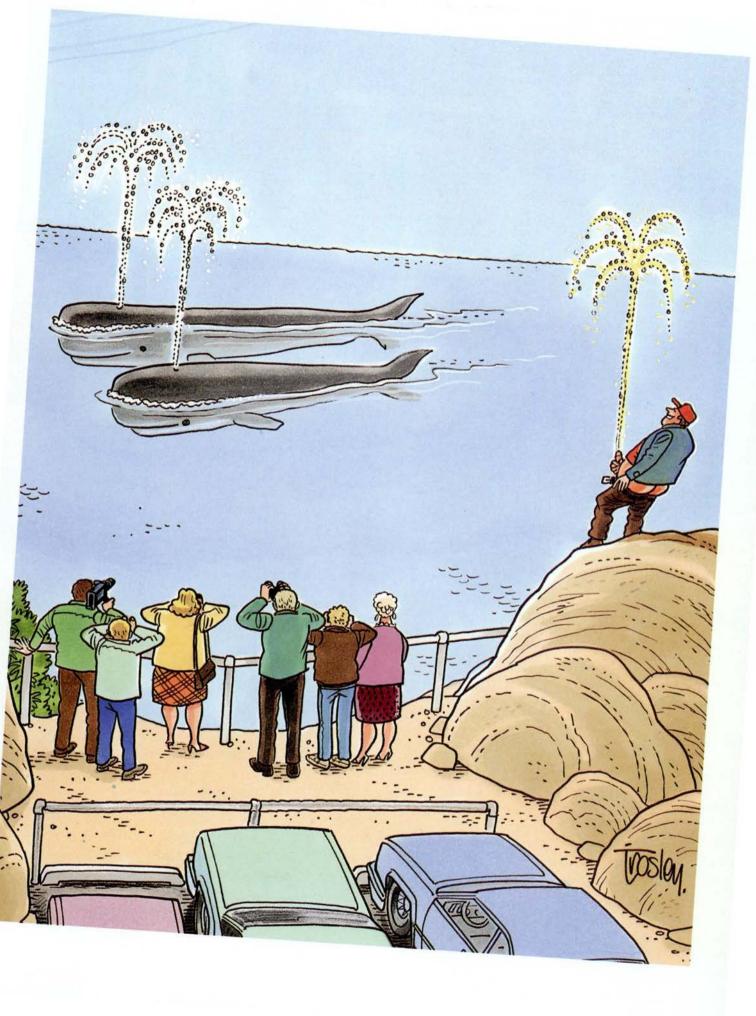

"What about that chocolate milk you're always leaving out on the table?" counters Huston. "Look at those ants."

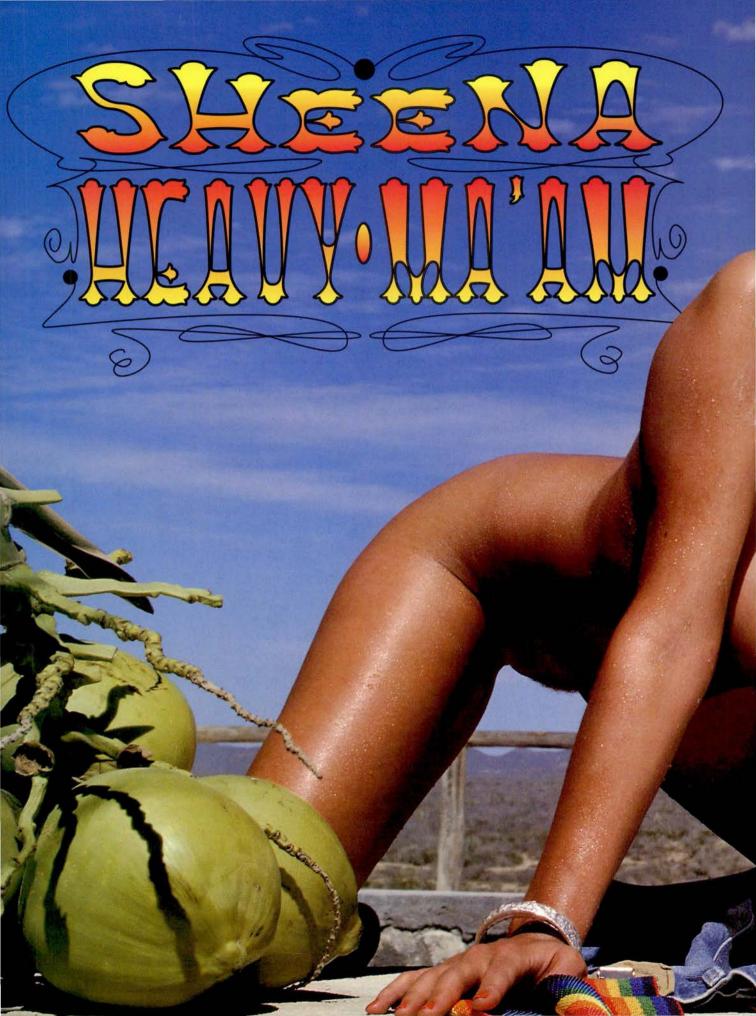

Predictably, Joey Verducci has the last word. "My cock is really big," he asserts. "Are you sure you don't want to see it?"

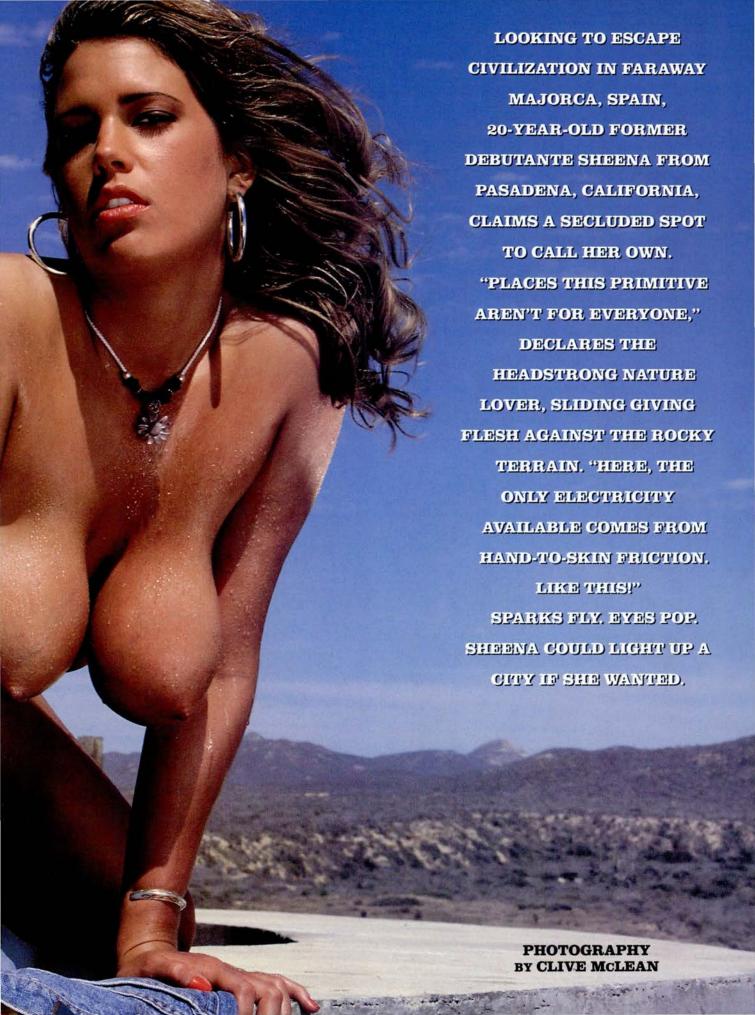

THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN MEN AND WOMEN

J. Billette

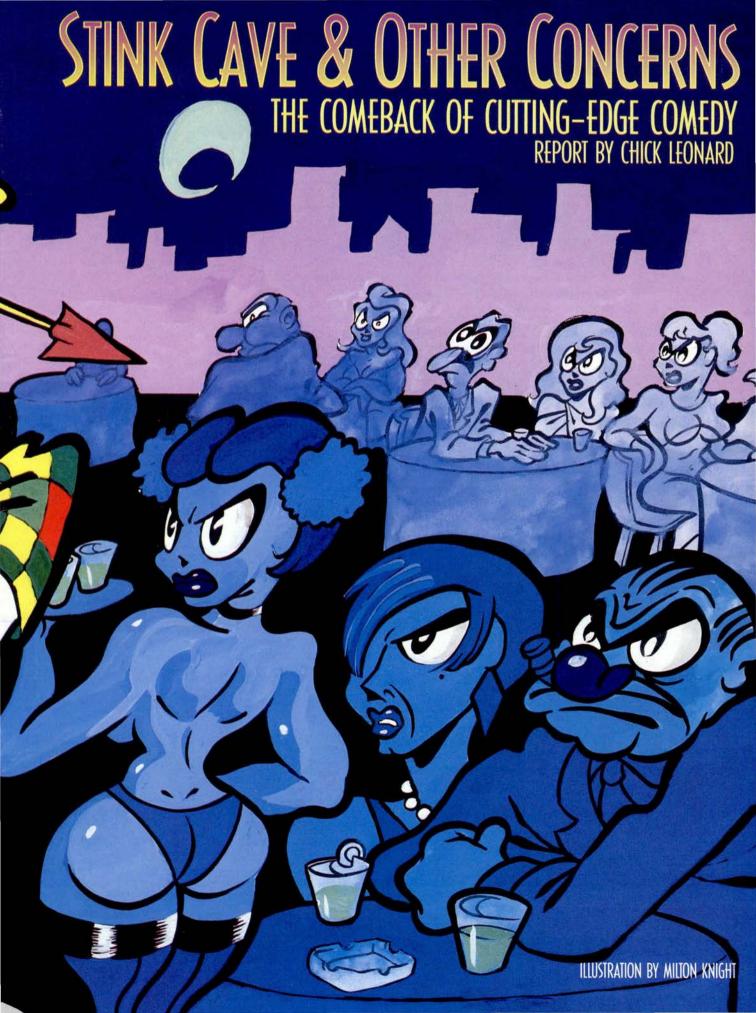

Comics

"Just grab any broad, finger her, make her pussy wet, feel her up—all broads want it," begins Steven Pearl. "Thank you, Senator Packwood. You can step down now."

The best comedians are pointed truthtellers who provide a much-needed reality check by holding up a funhouse mirror to society's ugly mug. During the boom of comedy clubs in the 1980s, however, a glut of stagestruck hacks carved lucrative careers in the rib joints by telling safe jokes that risked nothing.

The shakedown has arrived. Many clubs that sprang up during the boom years have folded. Comic Darwinism is in effect—survival of the funniest.

The fittest survivors in stand-up today are the comedians who fought to skewer tough issues during the time when playing it safe was smart for business. These days, the hot buzz in comedy is the cutting edge.

"I like goofing on political stuff," says comic Steven Pearl, a longtime standup who was profiled, along with the late, darkly brilliant Bill Hicks, in the 1988 feature film Comedy's Dirty Dozen. "I'll say, 'You see a broad walking down the street, you don't have to know her. Just grab her, finger her, make her pussy wet, feel her up. She wants it—all broads want it.' Then I'll say, 'Thank you, Senator Packwood. You can step down now.'

I like to dig a hole and then jump out of it just when the crowd is thinking, What the fuck is this guy doing? Oh, now we get it! I don't burn my bridges. I blow up the roads on the way to the bridge."

Seated in a booth at the Rainbow Bar & Grill on the Sunset Strip in Hollywood, California, three veteran comics who cut deep grooves in comedy's edge—and happen to be balls-out funny—debate the current state of standup.

Canadian-born Mike MacDonald, a comedy club standup since 1978, has just completed his third Showtime special; Allan Stephan, a buddy of dead, fat Sam Kinison, has been stalking comedy stages for nearly 20 years; New Yorker Andy Kindler, a dozen. Each of the three has a killing funny presence onstage, interweaving humorous observations of daily life with wickedly twisted, off-color material.

Lenny Bruce, George Carlin and Richard Pryor besieged language barriers in their fight to make "dirty" words acceptable in the pursuit of laughs. At his best, Kinison worked in that tradition, as did Bill Hicks. However, mainstream entertainment avenues routinely censor controversial material. Saturday Night Live, for example, recently bleeped portions of comic Martin Lawrence's monologue concerning the ways in which, in his view, women should wash themselves. Should comics be free to say what they please under any circumstances?

"You can't complain about censorship if all you want to do is tell smelly pussy jokes on TV," says MacDonald.

"What? Smelly pussy jokes? Is that a bad thing now?" asks a put-on incredulous Kindler.

"Redd Foxx and Richard Pryor got on TV," continues MacDonald, "and they didn't have to talk dirty to get their point across. A lot of so-called raunchy comics are just verbal masturbators."

"Wait a minute," objects Kindler, "I do the verbal masturbation bit too!"

Stephan devises a censor-defeating solution: "All you have to do is change the word pussy to hoochie. Hoochie will get by, even on TV."

"Being able to play is important. You've got to get your stuff heard," Kindler allows. "But, most important—is it funny?"

"Hoochie's funnier than pussy," maintains Stephan.

"Actually, 'stink cave' is my favorite term for pussy," states MacDonald, getting hot as far as blue. "They won't let you say that."

Kindler's defense system kicks in: "I'd like to disassociate myself from the phrase stink cave, and I'll sue if it's attributed to me."

Again, the bottom line.

"Funny's what counts," says Mac-Donald. "If Ted Danson in blackface had been funny, there wouldn't have been such an uproar of protest. Making bad choices doesn't put you on the edge. It just slits your own throat. Pick your fights, and if you're going to fight, make it a good one."

"To me," stresses Kindler, "there's a censorship issue every time somebody lists which words can or cannot be said. And things such as movie ratings have a censoring effect. Hollywood filmmakers design and edit their work to avoid X or NC-17 ratings. For the most part, they're not cutting violence; they're cutting sex."

Stephan refers to the master. "Lenny Bruce said he'd rather watch sex than violence. Killing is ugly. Fucking is not."

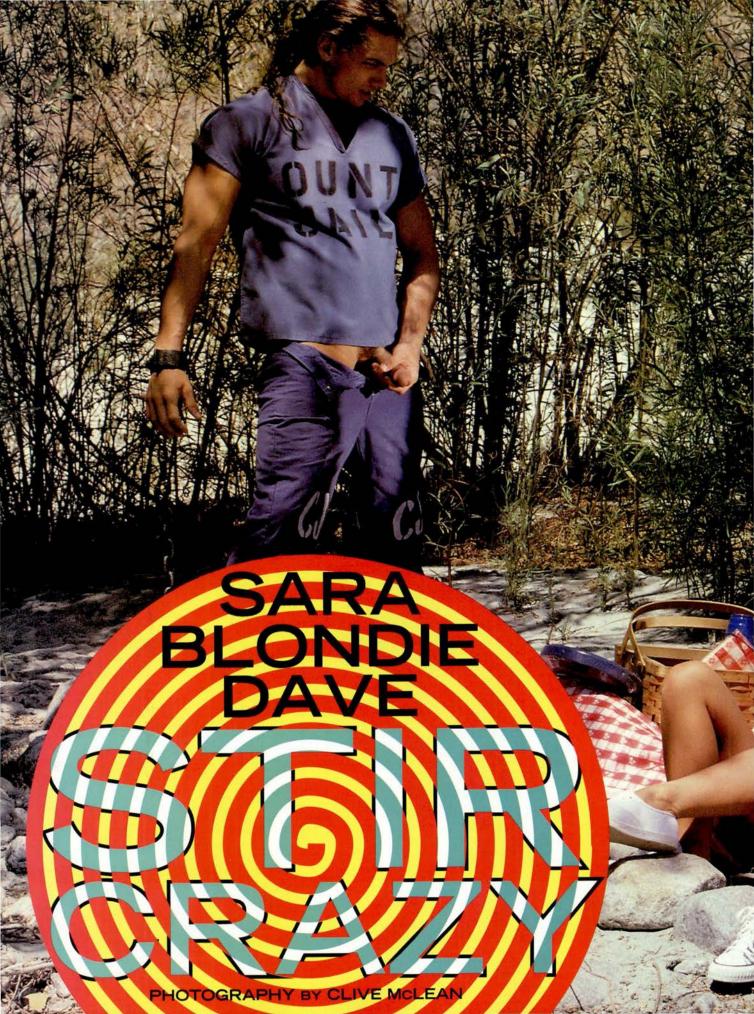

"I don't know," considers MacDonald, tweaking irreverence. "I could show you some beautiful violence and some really ugly fucking."

"I'm working on a book about perversions," says Stephan. "People make perversions sound negative, but what if a guy just happens to dig a chick in panties?

Weinhold's holiday tip: "If you're planning to eat fruitcake, remember the words of Oscar Wilde: 'Fruitcake is like semen. There's tons of it about, but nobody wants to swallow.' "

There's nothing negative about that. It's a nice perversion. Not to change the subject, but is there any chance we can okay the girls that go in this issue of HUSTLER?"

Comedian Matt Weinhold has found that one of the problems with working cutting-edge comedy is confronting the occasional audience to whom political correctness is more important than laughs.

"Subtlety and satire tend to be overlooked," says Weinhold. "What my onstage comic character says isn't necessarily my personal point of view. I have a joke where I talk about cartoon characters, where I say I never liked Yosemite Sam because he was the first redneck. I kept waiting for him to make a mistake during a cartoon: 'I hate rabbits-and Jews!' People hear 'Jews,' and their minds close down. They can be so politically correct and close-minded that the minute they hear a red-letter word, they don't go any further. It's like they're saying, 'Feed me what I want to hear. Keep doing what the Reagan years did."

Weinhold slips some hilarious shockers into his act by adopting an alter ego: Slag Crasy—supremely decadent Victorian ne'er-do-well. A sample Slag line:

"My orgies are like the Special Olympics—lots of drooling, and every-one's a winner."

"I'm obviously not saying that retarded people should be involved in orgies," says Weinhold, "but some people can't separate sincerity from irony anymore. With audiences so hypersensitive, it's harder to be funny."

Weinhold also has a character he describes as a paramilitary hygiene-class instructor, a guy from the '50s who gives all the wrong information in health class: "Crabs start out small, but they can grow to the size of Dobermans. They can't be cured, but they can be trained. The diaphragm is used as a disguise for the vagina. It is applied with spirit gum and covered with makeup. When a pervert puts his hand on a little girl, he finds that the vagina has simply disappeared."

When Weinhold works in front of a less-than-appreciative crowd, he rarely backs down. "I tend to want to torture them more," he claims. "I'll say, 'To those of you who didn't like that last joke, let me give you a holiday tip. If you're planning on eating fruitcake, remember the words of Oscar Wilde:

'Fruitcake is like semen. There's tons of it about, but nobody wants to swallow.'"

"The club scene's dead," declares Stephan at the Rainbow before his attention shifts to the fetching waitress bringing pizza and drinks to the table. "God, I like the way she serves pizza. What was I saying? Does anyone care? Oh, yeah. The clubs are dead. They burnt themselves out by using too many comics that just weren't funny."

"The word is bland," states MacDonald. "A lot of us want to go out there and say something. But it's hard to do that when you've watched the act before you come out like whitebread bullshit, and the audience is laughing it up. What are you going to do, be the guy that goes out and says, 'Listen up, folks. This is how it's really done'? Some nights I wish I could just put on a tape and lip-synch. It's tough to shoot for the edge every night; you just want to get by—'Here's some stuff to make you laugh; now leave me alone.' I don't want to go out and say, 'Racism is bad' every night."

MacDonald remembers a night in particular when he realized he had no choice but to dumb down his comedy for the crowd. "I was getting ready for a Showtime special, and I was working a club in Queens, New York. I had this anti-racism bit, and I wanted to put it right in the crowd's face. There was a double act before me: two black guys. They were shucking and jiving, and, I swear to God, the only thing they didn't do was 'Feets, don't fail me now.' And the crowd was eating it up. Am I-this white guy from Canada-going to walk out and say, 'No, folks, that was wrong'? I couldn't do it."

"The real bottom line," rebuts Stephan, "is that the waitresses in the clubs are hip to the comics now; so they don't fuck them like they used to. At the beginning, we were like Elvis to the club-working girls. They'd fuck us easy. Now they're jaded. They don't give a shit."

Kindler and MacDonald seem to be eyeing their colleague a bit quizzically.

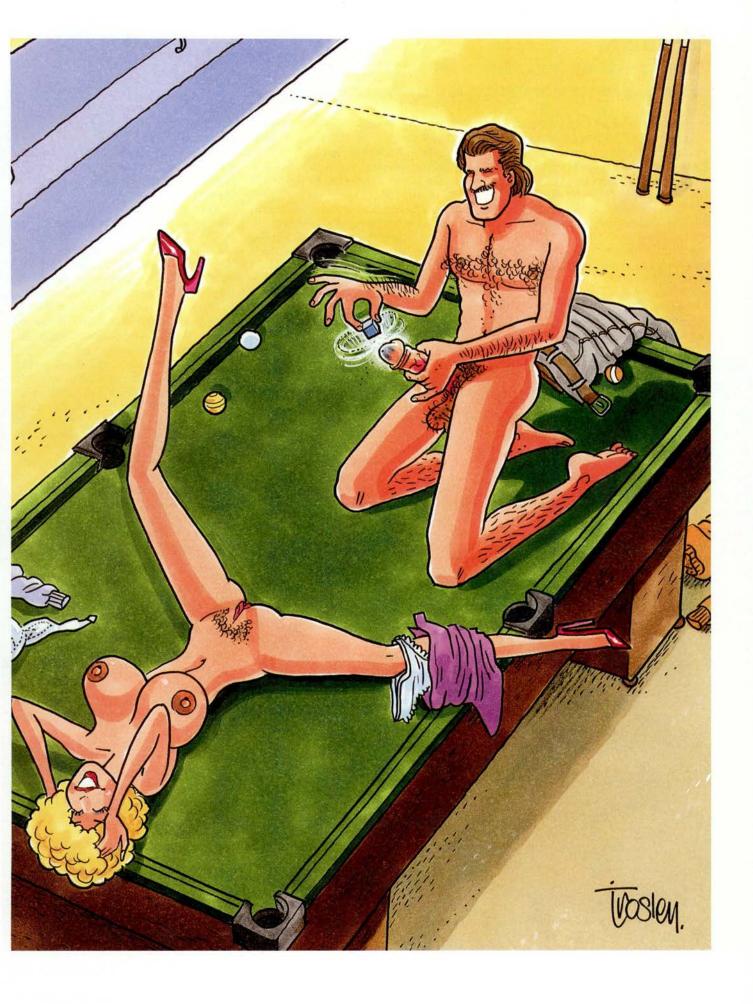

"Look," Stephan explains, "some of us have different priorities. The club circuit for me was a way to pay the rent, get a little pussy and feel better about myself."

"Now the waitresses say, 'You were really funny,' like it's a big surprise," says MacDonald. "You wonder who the hell's been playing there."

"Did I say pussy?" remarks Stephan. "I meant hoochie."

"When there were 8 million clubs, it was easy to be a shitty comedian and work," says comic Todd Glass. "It doesn't sound like a bad thing to me that, as clubs close, some of these same shitty comedians can't find gigs anymore."

Under 30, Glass already has a dozen years of comedy experience. "I don't know one clever, respectable comic who's leaving clubs to get his old job back," he says optimistically. "Things are tight, but good comics find places to work. The clubs have just been saturated by everybody and his brother doing shtick. Just like with anything else, the bullshit sticks out. It's a struggle to stay fresh and original, but good comics make that struggle.

"When I hear a shitty comic say, 'Things are slow. I'm going back to my day job,' I think, Good. I'm not afraid of competition. I love when I have to follow a funny comic—it makes me work harder."

Stephan recalls a close encounter while working Las Vegas: "I was fucking this girl on the balcony of the Dunes. I looked up, and there was my name on the sign. I went, 'Ahhh,' and she said, 'Yeah, this is good,' and I said, 'No—check out my name!' I told that story on-that dirty. I say fuck and shit in my act, but I talk that way all the time. My jokes aren't dirty. They're honest."

"Mostly, people get disturbed if you dig into issues important to them that they're unused to laughing at," says Kindler. "Lenny Bruce wasn't persecuted so much for his language as for his content. I've gotten a lot of flack for a Holocaust bit. I have a line—'Jews are nervous people. Nothing like a Holocaust to make you mind your p's and q's for a couple hundred years.' This Jewish guy told me I was trivializing the issue and that I just shouldn't talk about it. But I think I'm trivializing the trivializers, and I think you can talk about any subject."

"I had a handicapped guy in a wheelchair heckling me one night, and I told him I was going to take him out on the railroad tracks and push," emphasizes Stephan. "The audience got really quiet, but he said, 'Fuck them. Thanks for treating me like everybody else.' I wouldn't use a handicapped joke every night, but that time it was funny. Being a bad-boy comic on the edge isn't in the material. It's your personality. Period.

That's all I have to say—I've got to go kill someone now."

"Everybody has this dark side that wants to shake things up," says Kindler. "If it's real, then it's effective. But if you just want to shake things up because you think it's a cool thing to do, it comes off forced."

"Some guys start talking, and half the room leaves," says MacDonald. "I try to include everybody and slip a little substance in."

Stephan shrugs. "I closed with a dick joke on a TV show once. I just disguised it. I'll say 'bamming' or 'bonking' instead of 'fuck.' There's always some way to get the message across."

"But nobody goes through life without making compromises," admits Kindler. "You just don't do it on the big issues. And sometimes when comics change words to make something work, it only ends up sounding lame."

"If that's the case, they haven't picked the right word," answers Stephan. "I've asked a crowd, 'How many men support women's rights?' and when they raise their hands, I'll either say, 'Three guys are getting laid tonight,' or 'Three guys are gonna have sex tonight.' If fuck is the only word that makes your joke, you're on the wrong track."

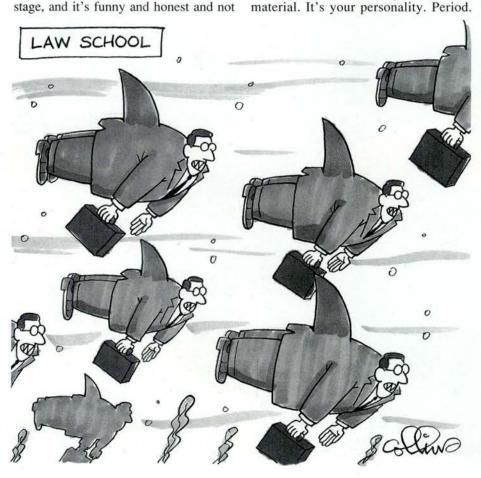

"There are a couple of tough words," states MacDonald, "like the C-word."

"I have a joke with the C-word," says Kindler. "I do an old comic reminiscing, 'One time I was doing a bit on the Tonight Show, and I was thinking, Don't say pussy, say vagina—don't say pussy, say vagina. I say "cunt." I'm banned from the network five years! On cable that makes you a star.' There's no way to change that joke—what, don't say 'foofie,' say 'geshmuckie'?"

"I don't say cunt," says Stephan. "I might talk about tit-fucking, but I wouldn't use the word cum. I'll say 'splew.' Men laugh, and women aren't offended. Of course, in England, a cunt is a taxi; a fag is a cigarette."

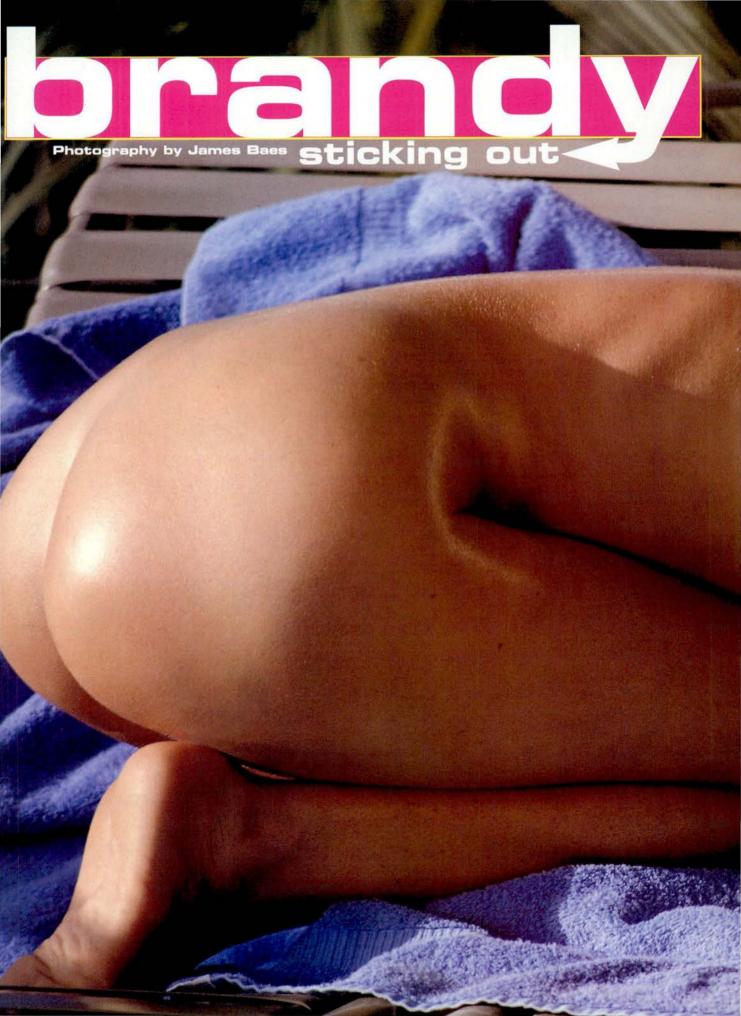

"I was doing a show up in Washington," recalls comic Stephen Dale of a memorable night on the road. "The room was packed, but the opener sucked. He was supposed to do 30 minutes, but he had five minutes of material. I hate following that because the crowd thinks you're going to suck too. I go up after him with a shot of Cuervo and say: 'Let me start this off with a toast. Here's to the girl with the big old bouncers, here's to the girl with the little half-ouncers, here's to the guy who doesn't care, 'cause what he wants is in her underwear.' That gets a cheer, and I do the shot.

Miss Mona hired Tex, a local handyman, to install a partition between two rooms in her whorehouse.

After completing the job, Tex informed Miss Mona that the bill came to $200.

"Well, I haven't got $200 here," the madam said, "but you're welcome to take it in trade."

"I don't need pussy, ma'am," Tex stated. "I need the money, and if you can't pay me, I'll have to tear out the partition."

"Don't be silly," Miss Mona chided. "For the kind of trade you can get here, you won't even have the energy to tear out the partition."

Finally, the carpenter agreed—provided Miss Mona rendered the services herself.

Once they got into bed, Tex quickly slipped his thumb inside Miss Mona's pussy and his index finger deep up her ass.

Tex spoke up. "Now let's talk trade, Miss Mona. Either you pay me $200," he offered, wiggling his digits, "or I will have to tear out the partition."

"Do me a favor, buddy," he implored Ben. "Unzip my fly and take my pecker out."

Poor cripple, Ben thought. Maybe he was in an accident. He obliged the man's request.

"And could you hold it while I pee?" asked the spazz. Ben did.

Sweet Poison

The U.S Pentagon listed aspartame as a prospective biochemical-warfare weapon. Instead of poisoning our enemies, the formula is used as a sweetening agent in some 1,200 foods.

The Food and Drug Administration [FDA] refers to aspartame—the chemical widely known as NutraSweet—as a "food additive," not a "drug." Adverse reactions to a substance classified as a food additive need not be reported to a federal agency, nor is continued safetymonitoring required by law.

Food additives are not noted to be causative agents in the development of brain lesions, headaches, mood alterations, skin polyps, blindness, brain tumors, insomnia or depression, nor are they known to erode intelligence or short-term memory. NutraSweet, according to some of the most capable scientists in the country, is. In 1991, the National Institute of Health-a branch of the Department of Health and Human Services—published Adverse Effects of Aspartame, listing the aforementioned side effects among approximately 167 reasons to avoid the substance.

Aspartame is an rDNA derivative, a combination of two amino acids. The U.S. Pentagon once listed it in an inventory of prospective biochemical-warfare weapons submitted to Congress. Instead of poisoning enemy populations, though, the formula is currently marketed as a sweetening agent in some 1,200 food products.

G. D. Searle—the pharmaceutical firm that introduced NutraSweet—vigorously lobbied federal and Congressional officials to move aspartame to market, despite substantial evidence of the chemical's detrimental side effects.

According to NutraSweet's public-relations depiction, the origin of aspartame can be traced to a scientist developing an ulcer drug (not a "food additive") in 1966. Purportedly, the man discovered upon carelessly licking his fingers that the substance under scrutiny tasted extraordinarily sweet. Thus was born the successor to saccharin, which is a coal-tar derivative that was popular as an artificial sweetener until reports of cancercausing properties surfaced.

Established in 1888 on the North Side of Chicago, G. D. Searle manufactures everything from prescription drugs to nuclear-imaging optical equipment. At the time of the company's acquisition by commodities colossus Monsanto Corporation in 1985, the firm's chairman was Harvard graduate William L. Searle, who was an officer in the Army Chemical Corps in the early 1950s, a time when the division was testing LSD on human subjects in concert with the CIA.

The Center for Disease Control [CDC] in Atlanta, Georgia, reports receiving stacks of letters complaining of NutraSweet's adverse effects. According to the National Soft Drink Association [NSDA]: "There have been hundreds of reports from around the country suggesting a possible relationship between consumption of NutraSweet and subsequent symptoms including headaches, aberrational behavior and slurred speech."

FDA Commissioner Arthur Hull Hayes, appointed by Ronald Reagan in April of 1981, discounts such complaints as merely anecdotal. Despite what one FDA scientist described as "very serious" questions concerning pivotal brain tumor tests, Hayes eagerly approved aspartame for use in dry foods in July 1981. Three FDA scientists advised against such approval, citing G. D. Searle's own brain tumor tests, which contained no proof that aspartame was safe for consumption as a food additive under its intended conditions of use.

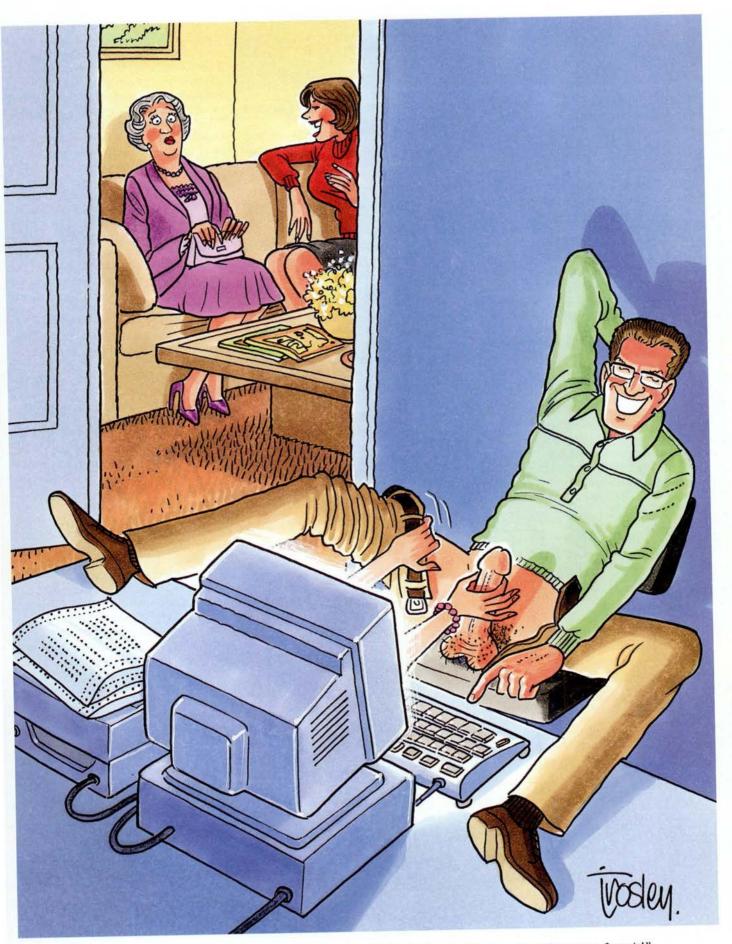

Commissioner Hayes ignored the recommendations of the FDA's own board of inquiry, relying instead on a study conducted by Japan's Ajinomoto, Inc.—a licensee of G. D. Searle. In so doing, Hayes based his approval of aspartame on the Japanese test, although the testing procedures had not been reviewed by the FDA board, as is required by federal law.

Not only did Hayes approve a product based on studies that were "scientifically lacking in design and execution," according to a report issued by Science Times in February of 1985, but upon leaving the FDA, Hayes took the post of senior medical consultant for Burson-Marsteller, the public relations firm retained by G. D. Searle.

Aspartame found early opposition in consumer attorney James Turner, author of The Chemical Feast. At his own expense, Turner fought FDA approval of the sweetener for ten years, basing his argument on aspartame's potential side effects, particularly on children. Sharing Turner's concerns, Dr. John Olney, professor of neuropathology and psychiatry at the Washington School of Medicine in St. Louis, Missouri, reported that clinical tests indicated aspartame, combined with monosodium glutomate [MSG]—a common seasoning—increased the likelihood of certain forms of brain damage occurring in children.

"People have suffered memory loss, headaches, dizziness and other neurological symptoms, which they feel are related to aspartame," noted Senator Metzenbaum.

Internally, aspartame breaks down into not only its constituent amino acids, but into methanol as well, a poisonous liquid alcohol that degrades into formaldehyde. The FDA announced in 1984 that no evidence has been found to establish that aspartame's methanol byproduct reaches toxic levels, claiming that "many fruit juices contain higher levels of the natural compound." However, the Medical World News reported in 1978 that the methanol content of aspartame is 1,000 times greater than most foods under FDA control.

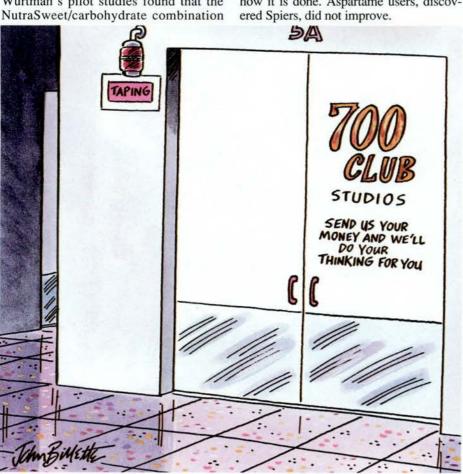

According to independent tests, aspartame intake is shown by animal studies to alter brain chemicals affecting behavior. Aspartame's effects on the brain led Massachusetts Institute of Technology [MIT] neuroscientist Richard Wurtman to discover that the sweetener defeats its purpose as a diet aid, since high doses of aspartame apparently instill a craving for calorie-laden carbohydrates. In addition, Wurtman's pilot studies found that the NutraSweet/carbohydrate combination increases the sweetener's effect on brain composition.

Searle officials denigrated Wurtman's findings, but the American Cancer Society has since confirmed—after tracking weight fluctuations in 80,000 women for six years—that "among women who gained weight, artificial-sweetener users gained more than those who didn't use the products."

According to findings by Dr. Paul Spiers, a neuropsychologist at Boston's Beth Israel Hospital, aspartame can depress intelligence. In clinical tests, Spiers analyzed subjects with a history of consuming NutraSweet, who were unaware that they might be suffering ill effects from the sweetener. The subjects were given NutraSweet in capsules containing the FDA's allowable daily limit.

Spiers was alarmed to discover that the test subjects developed cognitive deficits. One of Spiers's tests required mental recall of pattern arrangements and alphabetical sequences. The quiz is challenging, but most people improve as they learn how it is done. Aspartame users, discovered Spiers, did not improve.

"Some showed a reverse pattern," states Spiers.

"I have received a letter recently from a person who is well known to me, and whose word is impeccable, as far as I am concerned," testified Senator Russell Long (D-Louisiana) at the May 1985 FDA hearings instigated by Senator Howard Metzenbaum (D-Ohio) to repuire stricter labeling of NutraSweet in food products. "This person told me that, while dieting, she had been using soft drinks containing NutraSweet. She said she found her memory slipping. She could not recall a good bit of that which was going on about her, to the extent that she was afraid she was losing her mind. In due course, someone suggested that the problem might be due to NutraSweet; so she stopped using it, and her memory came back and her mind was restored."

"There have been hundreds of incidences of people who have suffered loss of memory, headaches, dizziness and other neurological symptoms, which they feel are related to aspartame," noted Metzenbaum, supporting Long's concern.

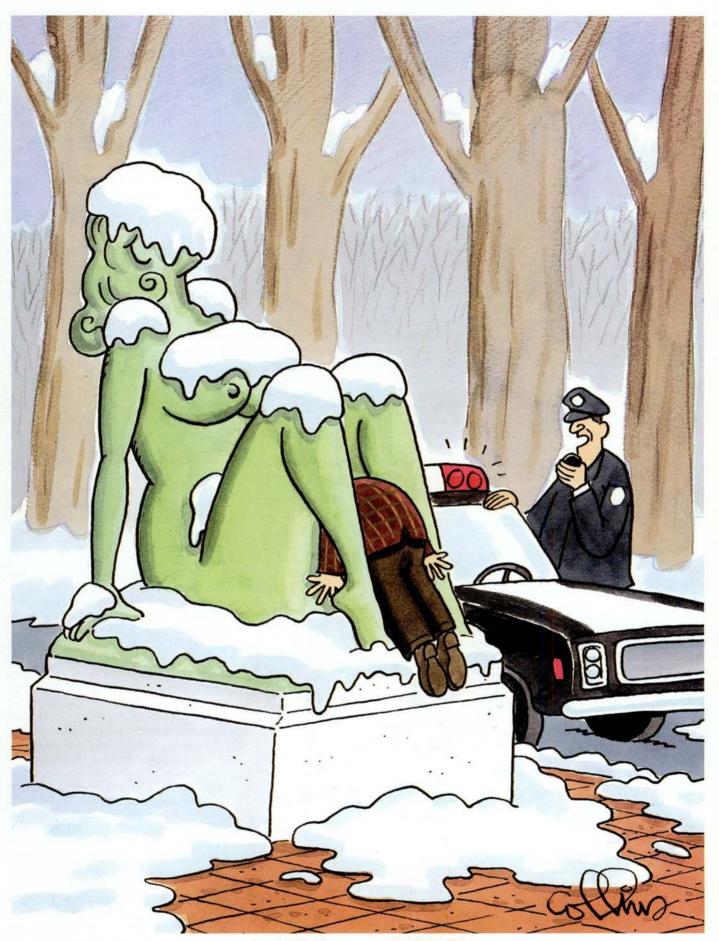

As far back as March 1976, an FDA task force brought into question all of G. D. Searle's aspartame-testing procedures conducted between 1967 and 1975. The final FDA report noted faulty and fraudulent product testing, knowingly misrepresented findings and instances of irrelevant or unproductive animal research where experiments had been poorly conceived, carelessly executed or inaccurately analyzed.

The FDA's chief counsel, Richard Merrill, petitioned Samuel K. Skinner, U.S. Attorney for the northern district of Illinois, for a grand jury investigation of Searle's willful and knowing failure to submit required test reports, the concealment of material facts and the company's false statements in reports on aspartame submitted to the agency.

Searle company officials turned to longtime Washington politico Donald Rumsfeld, a former Nixon and Ford Administration operative, electing him the chairman of the Searle organization. Industry analysts, interviewed by the Wall Street Journal six months after Rumsfeld's appointment as chairman, noted a rapid turnabout in Searle's fortunes as a result of Rumsfeld's direction.

Reported the Wall Street Journal in 1977, Rumsfeld "has been mending fences with the FDA by personally asking top agency officials what Searle should do to straighten out its reputation [regarding falsifying and withholding aspartame test data]."

In January of 1977, the FDA for-

The Washington Post reported that the Supreme Court refused to consider "arguments that the product, sold under the brand name NutraSweet, may cause brain damage."

mally requested that U.S. Attorney Samuel Skinner be hired to investigate G. D. Searle's aspartame-testing procedures. A month later, Skinner met with attorneys from Searle's Chicago law firm, Sidley & Austin. When newly elected President Jimmy Carter announced that same year that Skinner would not be asked to remain in office, Skinner informed reporters that he would be hired by Sidley & Austin.

Skinner recused himself from the Searle prosecution. Senior Assistant U.S. Attorney William Conlon inherited the case. Conlon eased off the investigation, citing caseload pressures, and gave a deaf ear to complaints of delays from the Justice Department, which urged that a grand jury be convened to prosecute Searle for falsifying NutraSweet test data. In January 1979, Conlon too joined Searle's law firm, Sidley & Austin.

In its bid to obtain FDA approval of aspartame in 1975, G. D. Searle submitted a battery of cancer-test results, titled the Willigan Report, which contained a statistical table that wrongly excluded four malignant, aspartame-related mammary tumors detected by Dr. Willigan and incorporated in his initial data. Somehow, the malignancies were made to appear benign. Searle dismissed the misrepresentation as a computer error, claiming that the unfavorable mammary malignancy data were innocently omitted from the summary table four separate times by three different individuals.

One pivotal safety study involved fetal damage. The FDA task force found that the medical researcher in charge at Searle was inexperienced in conducting studies of this nature. The researcher's sole credential was a field study of the cottontail rabbit for the Illinois Wildlife Service; yet at Searle he'd been assigned to laboratory training and supervision. When asked about his curriculum vitae in fetal research, the researcher replied that he'd once attended a seminar on the subject, and the Searle company had provided him with a library of reference works.

The Willigan report was prepared by Searle Labs. Although two members of the 1975 federal task force considered the mishandled Willigan tests to be fraudulent, FDA Commissioner Hayes and Searle representatives declared the results valid.

"Guess we'd better take the country music off the jukebox."

Dr. Gross, the chief scientist on the FDA task force investigating Searle, told the CBS Nightly News staff in January of 1984 that Searle company officials made "deliberate decisions" to cloak aspartame's toxic effects.

"Searle took great pains to camouflage the shortcomings of the study," claimed Gross. "And they did other terrible things. For instance, animals would develop tumors while they were under study. Well, Searle would remove these tumors from the animals [surgically masking possible cancerous effects of aspartame]."

In November of 1984, the CDC announced that no "serious, widespread" side effects of aspartame had been found. It was "unlikely," said CDC officials, that "complainers" could establish a link between NutraSweet and their maladies. The reported side effects of aspartame fell into two distinct categories: central nervous system (65%) and gastrointestinal disorders (24%). Yet the CDC claimed erroneously that no consistent reaction pattern had been found.

Based on the assurances of the November 1984 CDC report, soft drink colossus PepsiCo announced that it was dropping saccharin and adopting aspartame as the sweetener in all its diet drinks. When soda bottlers petitioned the FDA in 1983 for a delay in approval of NutraSweet for soft drinks until further evaluation verified its safety, the move was interpreted by market analysts as a ploy to drive down the price of the sweetener. The cola companies soon abandoned the effort to block approval and seemingly dropped all health concerns they might have had as well.

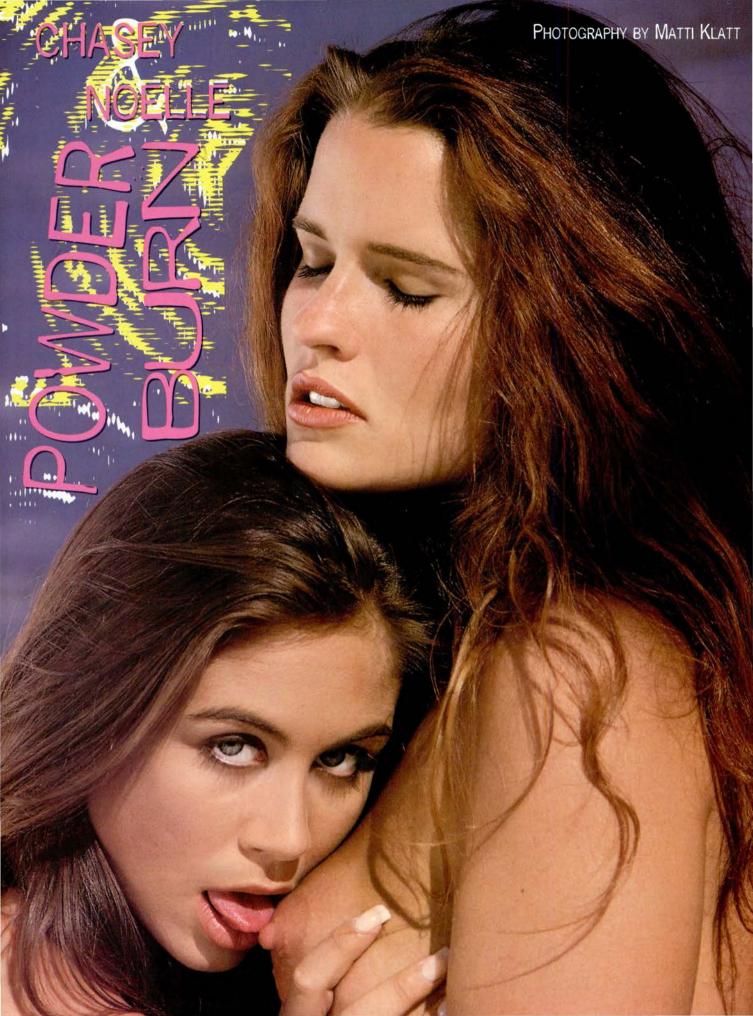

Senator Metzenbaum berated Searle's apparently flawed aspartame tests at Senate hearings on August 1, 1985.

"The FDA," said Metzenbaum, "is content to have the manufacturer of aspartame, G. D. Searle, conduct [all necessary safety] studies of the substance. That's absurd."

The Journal of the American Medical Association recently reported—with significant disclaimers—that the consumption of aspartame poses no health risk for most people. However, the report is based on FDA findings relying solely on the tests conducted by G. D. Searle.

Executives of G. D. Searle argue that the use of aspartame as an artificial sweetener has been officially approved not only by the FDA but by foreign regulatory agencies and the World Health Organization. Reviewing the foreign studies on aspartame safety, however, Dr. H. J. Roberts, an internal medicine specialist in West Palm Beach, Florida, found that "The next thing I know, I get a bottle of tequila sent up to the stage. The audience bought it for me. I said, 'I'm not going to leave the stage until I finish this.' They got into it. I ended up doing about 13 shots, and I had to do a two-hour show just to stagger the shots so I wouldn't puke.

"A third of the way through, the bartender brought a hotel-room key up to the stage and told me it was from a very cute woman. I made jokes about how the key was probably to a janitor's closet. I said, 'I'm here to entertain you people. If she wants me that bad, she can wait.'

"At the end of the show, I finished the last shot and mooned the audience. I couldn't think of anything better to do after 13 shots of Cuervo. I got a standing ovation, but a couple of women from a Lutheran convention had come in, and they called the cops on me. By the time the cops got there, I'd left the stage and had met up with the good-looking blonde who went with the hotel key. While the cops were scouring the club looking for my ass, I was across the street getting some. That was a good night's work."

Most of the time, taking the risks that come along with cutting-edge standup only make a hard job even harder.

"Every time you don't get the laugh, you have to ask why," Kindler concludes. "Jonathan Winters said that most people don't have a sense of humor. They think they do, but they don't. I think that's true."

Still, the payoff's in the spotlight.

"When I'm onstage, that's the happiest hour of my life," says Stephan. "There's no bill collectors, there's no chick fucking another guy, my mom's not on the phone telling me to wear a sweater. It's euphoria. I can control that hour. When I step off the stage, real life begins, and I can't control that."

"Club owners aren't just paying me for the hour onstage," says MacDonald. "They're paying for the other 23 hours. Me in a taxi, me in a shitty hotel. They're paying for everything else, and I'm throwing in the show for free."

"It's time to weed out the guys who should be selling shoes," agrees Stephan. "As clubs close, comics are gonna get stronger. I want to be big enough that I can walk into any sorority house in America, and 20 out of 25 women will look at me and say, 'I'll fuck him.'

"Twenty out of 25?" checks Kindler.

"You have to figure the other five are lesbians," answers Stephan.

"But you'll always be thinking, How come those other five didn't go for it?" adds MacDonald.

the approval of the majority of foreign agencies was based on contestable Searle-sponsored aspartame research, not independently conducted tests.

In August of 1987, the University of Illinois, a recipient of funding from Monsanto (Searle's parent corporation), issued a study exonerating aspartame of causing seizures in laboratory animals.

FDA safety regulator Dave Hattan believes that the study only confirmed the need for testing on humans. In independent tests, insists Hattan, aspartame provoked seizures in laboratory animals.

In 1985, a coalition of consumer groups were handed a ruling by the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia stating that, in the opinion of the Court, the FDA had followed proper procedures in approving aspartame for use in foods and soft drinks. A year later, the Washington Post reported that the Supreme Court refused to consider arguments to the contrary "despite critics" arguments that the product, sold under the brand name NutraSweet, may cause brain damage."

Recently denied publication of his short brief Aspartame-Associated Confusion and Memory Loss: A Possible Human Model for Early Alzheimer's Disease in a peer-review medical journal, Dr. H. J. Roberts wonders at the cause of the rejection.

"For a report on this issue to be refused publication seems peculiar," says Roberts, author of Aspartame (NutraSweet): Is It Safe? (Charles Press, Philadelphia, 1990), "considering the increasing magnitude of the problems of Alzheimer's disease and the relevance of my observations to newer biochemical findings and avenues of research."

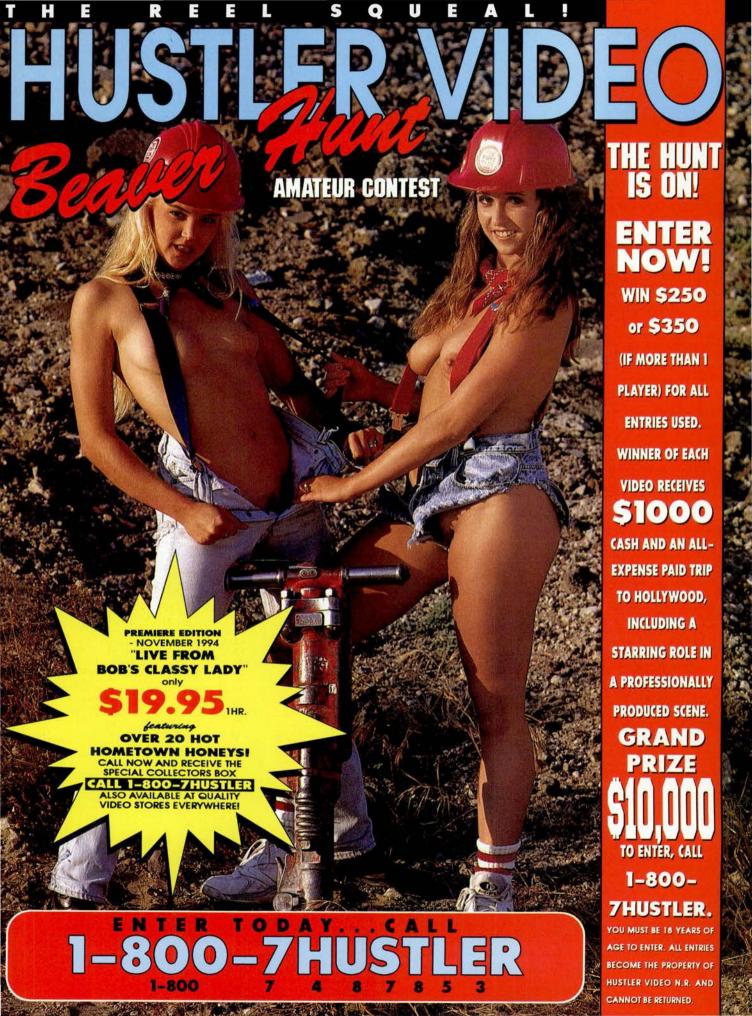

According to Roberts, researchers seeking to publish articles concerning problematic, health-related reactions to products containing NutraSweet are generally limited to burying their findings in small-circulation journals such as the bulletins of county medical societies, reporting their research results in the form of a letter to a magazine or newspaper, or, most often, they must simply discard the project.

Should a researcher's findings happen to favor the benign characteristics of aspartame, however, professional prospects may be brighter. Reportedly, Monsanto granted one such NutraSweet research facility a $1.3-million honorarium.

Women Men Couples

THE BIZARR

We bring you a collection of eleven adventures in erotica that are unlike any you've ever seen - we guarantee it!
PAUL NORMAN. "The Master of the Unusual!"

PAUL NORMAN, "The Master of the Unusual!" goes where few producers dare to tread in the production of his sex films, stopping at nothing to bring you the most visually shocking sex encounters ever filmed - XXX hardcore that appeals to every taste - every kink! Not content with the normal big-dick studs and porno starlets, he has sought out, discovered, and brought to the screen true hermaphrodites (people who possess a penis and vagins): Siamese twins who perform sex on camers; bisexual nymphs and satyrs who will do anything to get off; and much, much on camera; bisexual nymphs and satyrs who will do anything to get off; and much, much more! NOW - by special arrangement with Mr. Norman, we offer you this showcase collection of his best works. Obviously, his films bring top dollar when sold individually, but during this limited special offer, you can acquire these classics at a price that makes them an unbelievable bargain!

with PAUL NORMAN ... the master of the unusual!

PN-1 "BI & BEYOND" (Hermaphrodite with a woman) - The film that set the sex world on its earl Deliah, the stunning brunette hermaphrodite with a gorgeous woman's body and pulsing 10 1/2" cock, makes her film debut, licking, sucking and fucking a blonde woman in every way imaginable

PN-2 "PASSION BY FIRE" - A bisexual female and bisexual male join forces and cruise pick-up bars in search of sex partners to quench their insatiable appetites for cum! 3-way action where no hole is left unfilled!

PN-4 "BI & BEYOND 2" (Hermaphrodite with a man & woman) - A horse-hung hermaphrodite easily satisfies a man and a bi-guy as she uses her awesome sexual equipment in a 3-way fuck fest such as you've never seen before!

PN-5 "JOINED" (Slamese twins with a man) - Perhaps Paul Norman's most incredible discovery of all - gorgeous young Siamese twins joined at the hip, who catch a peeping tom and grant his fondest wish - to have sex with them! A must see, alone worth the price of the entire collection PN-6 "INNOCENCE LOST" - Two lesbians decide to try cock for the first time, and introduce their neighbor to new thrills as they penetrate his virgin anus with their dildoes & lesbian sex toys!

PN-7 "BI & BEYOND 3" (A hermaphrodite with a man) - A gorgeous blonde with a dripping pink pussy and throbbing 9" cock auditions for a film role. The producer (who's bi) has his hands full (and his manhole) when this unique, oversexed creature gives him an updated lesson in male & female anatomy!

PN-8 "HEATWAVE" (Interracial bisexuality) - The black bisexual crew of a yacht "drops anchor" in the hot mouths and hungry pussies of their cock-starved bisexual blonde passengers. A "salt & pepper" suck & fuck fest ensues all over the boat!

PN-9 "SEPARATED" (Siamese twins with two men) - The stunning Siamese twins yield their mouths and cunts to the throbbing cocks of two studs as they have their first 4-way group sex experience. An eye-popping, cum-spurting orgy of double fucking and sucking! PN-10 "BI & BEYOND 4" (Super-hung black hermaphrodite with a man) - "Herculina," the incredible black hermaphrodite with a 12 inch penis, teaches a "white boy" about "long-dicking" as he has his first encounter with nature's "ultimate sexual partner," the CINEsational Productions

PN-11 "OFFERING" - Imagine what happens when 8 multi-orgasmic male & female bisexuals get together for an "orgy to end all orgies." It's all here - hot, wet, and up-close, as Pau

Norman's camera record the most cumsaturated sexual encounter ever filmed

HOME VIRTUAL REALITY SIMULATOR SYSTEMS

Completely self-contained, designed for personal home use READY-TO-ENJOY • NO COMPUTER NEEDED!

SEXUALLY ORIENTED ADULT ENTERTAINMENT AS YOU KNOW IT IS ABOUT TO CHANGE FOREVER; IF YOU WANT TO BE ONE OF THE FIRST TO EXPERIENCE THIS INCREDIBLE NEW BREAKTHROUGH, KEEP READING . . .

cybersex n. (sigh-burr-sex)—a sexual encounter that one experiences utilizing the new technology of "virtual reality," i.e. not occurring in reality, but with all the sensations, pleasure, and orgasmic response of real sex so faithfully duplicated, as to be virtually indistinguishable from the real thing. (See also cybersexual intercourse.)

Virtual Reality is the most phenomenal breakthrough to emerge from science in decades. The whole world is talking about it: The Los Angeles Times Magazine and other major metropolitan newspapers have covered it; Talk-show hosts have experimented with it on national TV in front of millions of viewers; An author made it the subject of his best-selling-book-turned-blockbuster-movie. A coulde hetelogical as views here solve popular in as views here solve popular in the views here. popular hotel/casino in Las Vegas has a coin-operated system installed that generates more income than most of its black/jack tables; There are even some fast food restaurants that have installed VR systems, to capitalize on the guaranteed, magnetic draw of such an incredible attraction.

What is VIRTUAL REALITY? Quite simply, it is nothing less than a technology that can virtually re-create reality — every sight, sound, smell, touch and sensation of any human experience can be duplicated, "cloned," with a system that simulates all the sensations of the Real McCoy, and allows a subject (you, for example) to experience and enjoy the little episode as if you were really there; no human hairs can tall the difference. human being can tell the difference.

Scientists and researchers have actually discovered "the building blocks" of sensory perception, and more Incredibly, are able to recreate, or "clone" those patterns, resulting in an experience so indistinguishable from the real thing, that it has been dubbed "VIRTUAL REALITY." Since the mind's conscious interpretation of incoming stimulus is what determines the nature of incoming stimulus is what determines the nature of incoming stimulus is what determines the nature of human experience, this means that actual events in human experience can be synthesized, re-created at will, to be "re-played" at any time, with any subject (you), like today's video cassettes, but on a far more realistic level.

As a medium of entertainment, however, its implications were truly astounding. Imagine being able to "relive" any situation you desire, whenever you want, as often as you want to? Imagine "custom" tailoring" a sexual experience to your own stringent requirements – every detail, every nuance – exactly the way you like it. Not only that, but also available whenever you want it, as often as your body can handle it! Gay or straight, the subject matter is at your total command; the only limitation is the human imagination. Are you beginning to grasp the phenomenal scope of this discovery?

Betty Jo and Darryl Sanderson, Spokane, WA*

A consultant named Peter Webber, whose firm had been contracted by major movie studios to research new entertainment technologies came upon research new entertainment technologies came upon this systems at a trade show. In a brainstorm, he realized an as-yet-untapped area that would be an instant hit: SEXUAL EXPERIENCES IN VIRTUAL REALITY — so detailed, so true-to-life, it would be a perfect "clone" of the real thing. Every voluptuous curve of the perfect sex partner would be recreated to your specifications; that indescribable "tingling" in your groin; every sensation of a totally satisfying sexual experience exactly duplicated — indistinguishable from the real exactly duplicated - Indistinguishable from the real if the magnificent implications of SEXUAL EXPERIENCES IN VR are still not clear, let's make a simple comparison between REAL SEX EXPERIENCE and CYBERSEX VR SIMULATOR EXPERIENCE:

- You may never have an experience with the "partner of your dreams."
- Frequency often depends on mood and receptiveness of female partner.
- Risk of pregnancy/disease n interfere and dampen pleasure
- Infrequent/not always
- available.

 5. Finding and seducing partners can be very expensive.

 6. For your pursuit, you need a nice car, a nice pad, nice clothes, and plenty of money.

You can enjoy your *dream

- partner" any time you want.
 2. Frequency depends entirely on you; The words "no" and "headache" do not exist in virtual
- The safest and most satisfying always.
- How often can you handle it?
 For unlimited experiences, you incur a one time charge that costs less than dinner and a movie.
- You need only an electrical

Please note - Virtual reality experience is entirely dependent on the orientation of the user - gay, straight, bisexual, groups, "kinky," or whatever - there is no sexual discrimination in virtual reality!

Perhaps the most wonderful thing about technology is that it constantly seeks to improve upon technology is that it constantly seeks to improve upon tiself. A decade ago, video cassette recorders cost in excess of $1,000, today they are little more than a tenth of that. And the same is true of Virtual Reality technology; the components that used to cost thousands of dollars can now be had for far less. This fact, coupled with the tremendous resources available to our movie and entertainment industry, make the time "ripe" for a breakthrough of this nature. After 3 years of intensive research. Webber developed the CVERESSEX intensive research, Webber developed the CYBERSEX HOME VR – SIMULATOR SYSTEM. So that the marvels of this new technology could be appreciated first hand by consumers in the privacy of their own homes, at an affordable price

Kyle Miller, Nashville, TNº

So why isn't this miraculous "DREAM MACHINE" – available on a mass level?

It's simple - the "giants" of consumer electronics don't want to release the goodles yet. They have to keep the price in the stratosphere, to 'milk' the consumers, Just like they did with VCR's CD players, and every other new development they've come out

But it doesn't have to be that way – not this time. Take advantage of this invitation to buy direct. Try out our CYBERSEX HOME VR SIMULATOR SYSTEM. Find out our Cybersex Home VR SIMULATOR SYSTEM. Find out what the noise is all about, and why the whole world is buzzing. We'll ship you the genuine article, lock-stock-and-barrel, ready to use and experience, for only $24.95 each. PENIS ENLAKGEME

You can thicken, harden, and lengthen your penis to 12 inches or your maximum potential!

The only complete penis enlargement system featuring the largest selling and most successful pump and free step-bystep instructional video and magazine!

Successful results for over 20 years with more than 5 million men!

How can our heavy duty deluxe penis enlarger increase the length and thickness of your penis?

The answer is called hypermia, a medical term to describe blood filling into the caverns of your penis. The caverns expand causing your penis to grow in length and diameter. The superior pump action and sealed vacuum of our penis developer urges your penis to grow to mammoth proportions.

Can I use any pump to increase penis size?

Not exactly. Inferior substitute pumps and electric massage pumps can't help you. You need a quality pump constructed of the finest materials tested and tried and used successfully for over 20 years. Our pump will give your penis increases in length and diameter you never dreamed possible. Up to 10 inches, even 12 inches... or your maximum potential, and you'll see this dramatic increase in size grow right before your very eyes, through the clear housing.

If I have a quality pump, is that enough?

You need to know how to use the pump. This is important! Our instructional video tape and magazine shows you, step-by-step, how to harness the energy of our powerful pump. The video tape and magazine are easy to follow and guarantees you will understand how to use our pump. You will learn how to make your penis thicker and longer by following the easy step-by-step instructions.

You will be pleased with the results and so will your sex partner!

Holiday Issue on sale October 25, 1994

TICKLED PINK

HUSTLER's Holiday Issue puckers up for the biggest score of '94 with 12 pairs of lickable, north-and-south lips on six silky party dolls. Beat around the bush with a muff-mashing, ass-flashing, migrant gringa trading toil-in-the-soil for a muscle-driven plow; stir up a barrier-breaking beach frolic with a thoroughbred black beauty lip-gripping a rosy-cheeked brunette who doesn't pale from ebony tail; set sights on a bright-eyed, tight-thighed, jersey-fed jezebel taking southernglory inventory in a toe-held mirror; bask in the betassled boudoir of a bed-bound beauty dressing up to put out; and kick back with a nasty-minded homegirl determined to squeeze the best out of all her bad habits before making New Year's resolutions. HUSTLER's Holiday Issue parties hard. Save some for seconds.

According to crime statistics, more than 2,000 women commit murder each year, yet a small fraction of women found guilty are ever sentenced to death. For the few female killers who are condemned to be executed, there exists only a 2% chance the death sentence will be carried out. Since the enactment of new capital-punishment laws in the early 1970s, nearly 200 men have been executed, but only one woman. Today, more than 2,500 men crowd the nation's death rows. Thirty-three women await the same fate. Crime reporter Tom W. Kuncl profiles the deadliest women marked for—but still cheating—execution in Sorority Row, a chilling look at the women who take lives, though the legal system bends its rules to spare theirs.

By the time former Arkansas state troopers brought claims against President Bill Clinton alleging they had arranged secret sexual liaisons for the then-governor of the Land of Opportunity, Clinton had already been linked to the coverup of a covert guns-and-drugs operation being run out of an obscure airstrip in tiny Mena, Arkansas. The body count among Clinton's camp exceeded statistical norms before the suicide of Deputy White House Counsel Vince Foster. Although it wasn't revealed at qualifying hearings concerning Clinton's pick for Secretary of Defense, Bobby Ray Inman, Admiral Inman was famed among UFOlogists for having verified to a retired NASA engineer the existence of MJ12, the long-rumored, top-secret government task force on extraterrestrialism. These and other missing chapters in the official record of the Clinton Administration's first 1,000 days are recounted by writer Kenn Thomas in White House Daze, a provocative investigation into the shadows the President casts.

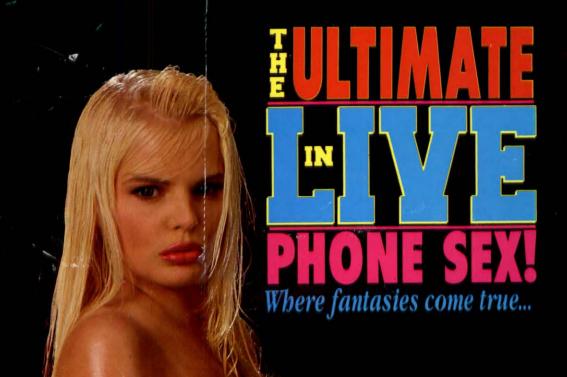

Amotivated libido syndrome is either a curse or a blessing for the X-generation's shuffling schtuppers—depending on who can get it up enough to care, reports writer Alex Marvel in HUSTLER's Holiday Issue Sex Play, "Slacker Sex: The Laziest Lays of the Land"; Hot Letters reads between the slits; Beaver Hunt hits all the right misses; and Bits & Pieces gives lip service to wisecracks. HUSTLER's Holiday Issue is a gift that keeps giving. Get some.
